Nixon Ready For TV Talk On Viet War
Associates See No Big Break Behind Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, responding to what associates say is a public demand for a summation of the Vietnam situation, goes before the nation tonight to give what is expected to be a cautiously optimistic assessment of peace prospects.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the speech, to be broadcast live at 10 p.m. EDT on national television and radio, will contain some new material, but cautioned against expecting an announcement of a peace breakthrough.

Nixon associates also said the President's speech will outline how matters now stand in light of the Viet Cong's 10-point peace proposal rather than announcing the breaking of new ground.

A high government official said Nixon will stress mutual withdrawal of troops and reduction of the fighting as moves the United States believes must have priority in the Paris peace talks.

This official said there would be no pledge for unilateral U.S. troop reductions.

The President's speech is expected to reflect the administration's feeling that the Hanoi-backed Viet Cong proposals, while generally unacceptable, offer some negotiable points. One of these contains the first tacit public admission by Hanoi that it has troops in the South.

No associate expects the President to hint acceptance of the Viet Cong proposal for a provisional coalition government to replace the elected Saigon regime immediately. But Saigon itself has expressed an interest in a proposal for an exchange of prisoners, another point in the proposal.

An indication the President is preparing an early formal answer to the Viet Cong came when Ziegler said Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will arrive during the afternoon for new instructions before flying back to Paris Thursday. The next Paris meeting is Friday.

Fight Against Mosquitoes Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal government spent $53 million over the past five years to stamp out a yellow fever-carrying mosquito only to decide the insect wasn't all that dangerous and probably could not be eradicated anyway.

Although there had not been a case of yellow fever reported in 40 years in the United States, the program was begun in 1964 to prevent the possibility of any future outbreak and to end migration of the Aedes Aegypti mosquito to Latin America.

From a modest $3 million start in 1964, the U.S. anti-mosquito program grew to $16.5 million in 1968. It jumped more than $8 million in fiscal 1969, alone.

In last year's governmental economic squeeze this figure was cut back to $6.9 million.

Former President Johnson asked for $905,000 for fiscal 1970, but the new Republican administration decided to junk the program altogether, effective June 27.

Using the existing eradication methods, continuation of the program would have required hundreds of millions of dollars in future U.S. expenditures without any real assurance of success," Nixon officials said.

At its peak, the program had more than 300 federal employees, most in the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga.

There were thousands of others employed in Texas, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands under federal contracts to state or territorial health departments.

Malaysia Riot Deaths May Reach 100

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — Fighting between Chinese and Malay mobs continued in parts of Malaysia's capital today despite a round-the-clock curfew ordered during rioting in which at least 100 persons were believed killed.

More battling was reported in the Malay settlement of Kampong Bahru, where the first fighting broke out Tuesday night. A sprawling middle-class housing development on the western edge of the city also was the scene of communal battles, and Indians there were reported fighting the Malays. It was the first report of Indian involvement.

Troops and police, some in armored cars, scoured downtown Kuala Lumpur, breaking up bands of youths, searching houses and shops for suspects, and shooting people off the street.

Two persons were reported killed by soldiers who fired at persons stoning them from a downtown apartment.

The official casualty toll so far was 25 dead and 58 injured, but police reports indicated at least 100 had been killed.

"There are bodies all over Kuala Lumpur," one police source said.

Heavy smoke billowed up from shops, houses and Malay kampongs set afire throughout the city of 500,000 people. Several thousand refugees poured into police stations, seeking sanctuary from the riots which destroyed or threatened their homes.

Government leaders met with Chinese and Malay groups in an effort to end the hostilities. Tan Siew Sin, president of the Malaysian Chinese Assn., told newsmen he was prepared to reconsider the decision not to participate in the new government, but he said nothing about this in a television appeal for calm.

Since the Malaysian Federation was formed in 1963, Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman has led a coalition government made up of his United Malay National Organization, or UMNO, the MCA and the Malaysian Indian Congress. The MCA, always a junior partner to UMNO, lost 20 of the 33 races in which it entered candidates.

MCA withdrawal from the government meant an all-Malay cabinet to govern the nation of 4.2 million Malays, 3 million Chinese and 1 million Indians and Pakistanis.

Viet Casualties Skyrocket As Heavy Fights Continue

President Wins Job Corps Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon for the second time has turned back congressional challenges to his domestic policies. Defections of Southern Democrats to the GOP side was again a key factor.

The latest victory came as the Senate turned back, 52-40, a Democratic-backed resolution calling on the President to delay his decision to shut down 59 Job Corps Centers by July 1.

All 40 Republicans present Tuesday opposed the resolution. They were joined by 12 Democrats, nine of them southerners.

This gave the administration a perfect record in two major tests so far in Congress—both thanks to the help of Dixie Democrats.

Three weeks ago a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats in the House upheld the administration position on a school aid bill, rejecting efforts supported by Democratic leaders to amend the measure in a manner opposed by President Nixon.

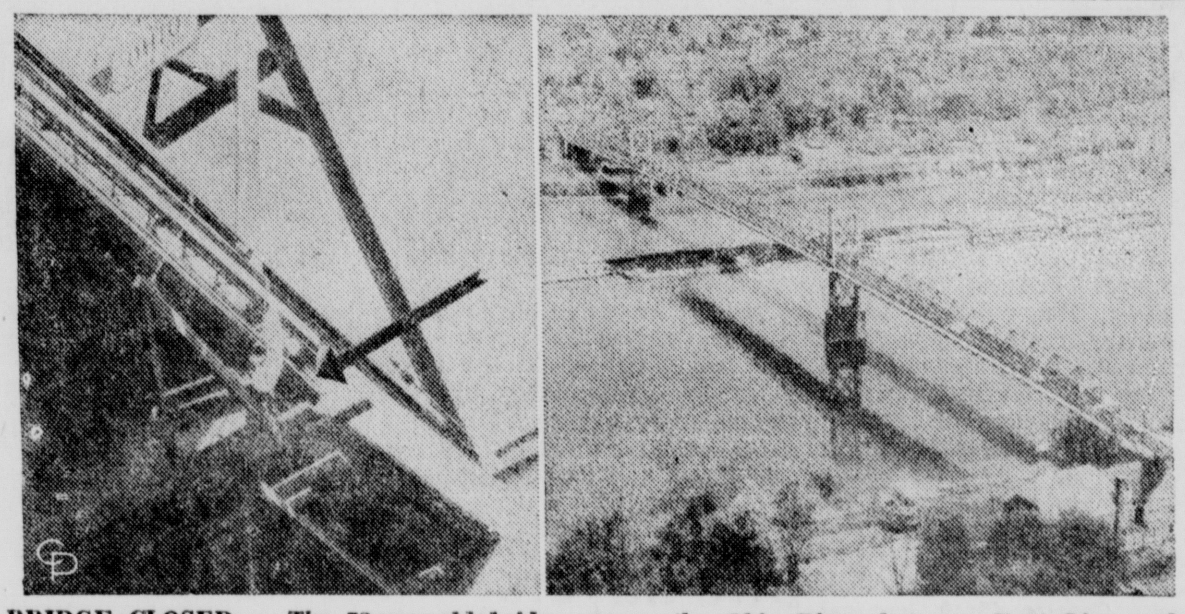

Solid Republican ranks in the Senate Tuesday demonstrated effort by the administration to avoid a defeat on the Job Corps issue.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., chief sponsor of the resolution, said he sought to keep the fight nonpartisan and regretted that, in the end, it became almost a partyline issue.

However, Cranston said he believed the battle had accomplished something.

"I believe it will show the President that many senators, including members of his own party, are concerned about this matter."

"I hope it will mean he will do everything possible to see that every Job Corps trainee is given the break he has been promised."

1,800 Reds, 100 Americans Reported Dead

SAIGON (AP) — Casualty tolls mounted today as heavy fighting continued across South Vietnam for the third day. Allied military sources claimed more than 1,800 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, many of them by American bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery.

Military sources estimated more than 100 U.S. troops had been killed and several hundred wounded since the sudden upsurge in enemy attacks Sunday night.

South Vietnamese losses were put at 273 troops killed, 748 wounded and 22 missing.

The biggest fight of the last 24 hours raged 30 miles northwest of Saigon as American infantrymen from the 25th Division and U.S. bombers and artillery battered North Vietnamese troops entrenched in fortified positions.

After four hours, the North Vietnamese force retreated, leaving 50 of their dead on the battlefield. Three Americans were reported killed.

The area northwest of Saigon and the jungled foothills south of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, have seen the stiffest fighting during the past three days.

In a two-day fight six miles southwest of Da Nang, 81 enemy soldiers were reported killed by U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese militiamen. Eleven Marines were killed and 22 wounded; there was no report of the casualties among the militiamen.

Military analysts consider the stepup in enemy attacks part of the effort to force a coalition government on South Vietnam and to increase demands in the United States for a withdrawal of American troops by inflicting higher U.S. casualties.

Military spokesmen reported more than 30 enemy rocket and mortar attacks Tuesday night, compared with 40 the previous night and more than 200 Sunday night.

Fortas, Friends Hold Talks On Pressure For Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Abe Fortas, under mounting pressure to resign from the Supreme Court, is believed holding a series of top secret strategy sessions with old friends as he nears a decision on his future.

The embattled justice, who watched a former Senate supporter join those calling for him to quit, canceled a scheduled appearance Tuesday at a judicial conference in New Hampshire.

This fueled speculation that he was close to a final decision. The likelihood grew when it was understood that Fortas held discussions Tuesday night at his Georgetown home with Paul Porter, his former law partner, and Justice William O. Douglas, a close associate.

Fortas could be expected to confer with these old friends before sealing a final decision on whether to yield to the furor over a fee offer from the family of Louis E. Wolfson or to resist and try to ride out the storm.

The justice has made no public statement since he acknowledged the offer May 4 coincident with its revelation in Life Magazine.

He has since kept a peppy pace, with three speeches in less than a week, and maintained a cheerful mien. But rumors grow that he is about to quit.

Douglas was reported to have met for more than an hour with Fortas at the Georgetown home Monday night following Fortas' return from a speech at Memphis State University.

The two have known each other for more than 30 years—since Douglas taught at the Yale law school and Fortas was one of his students.

A newsman's attempt to obtain amplification from Douglas produced a flat "no comment" at his office Tuesday afternoon.

Then, Tuesday night, Douglas was understood to have returned to Fortas' home for another round of talks. Porter was believed to have called a few hours earlier.

Neither the White House nor the court took public notice of the mounting reports and rumors.

Apollo Crew Hopes Delays Will Be Few

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts Tom Stafford and Gene Cernan hope to break a lull and blast off for the moon right on schedule Sunday.

On previous flights, both have had problems getting off the launch pad, especially Stafford.

On both the Gemini 6 and 9 flights, Stafford had to make the trip to the pad three times before his rocket finally was launched.

Cernan was his co-pilot on Gemini 9 and shared the delay on that one.

Stafford, Cernan and John Young are to ride into space atop a Saturn 5 rocket at 12:49 p.m. EDT Sunday, heading their Apollo 10 ship into orbit around the moon.

Young, veteran of the Gemini 3 and 10 missions, has never had a launch postponement, and his fellow spacemen hope some of his luck will rub off on them.

Stafford, the Apollo 10 commander, said an on-time launch is important to the mission.

"We have a whole lunar operation keyed to that liftoff time," he said. "Any delay would upset our timetable and take us over different areas of the moon than planned."

A major goal is to test the lunar landing module, or LEM, in the moon's environment. Stafford and Cernan are to detach it from the command ship and descend to within nine miles of the surface to scout an area in the Sea of Tranquillity where two Apollo 11 astronauts hope to land in July.

Stafford, Young and Cernan planned several hours today in a spacecraft simulator. They also were to be briefed by astronaut Harrison Schmitt, a geologist who is an expert on lunar topography.

Evans Backers Disrupt Lecture

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Supporters of Black Nationalist leader Fred "Ahmed" Evans disrupted a university lecture on violence in American history Tuesday night and demanded immediate release of the Masotti report on the July 23-24 violence in Cleveland's Glenville area.

The nationalists, led by Willie Mae Mallory and Wilbur Grattan, took over the public lecture program at Case Western Reserve University and silenced political science professor Louis Masotti and visiting professor David Van Tassel of the University of Texas.

The nationalists charged that the Masotti report had been suppressed because it contained information favorable to the defense in Evans' first-degree murder trial.

Presbyterians Open General Assembly

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. opens a weeklong general assembly today that will decide issues ranging from draft resistance to using folk songs in worship.

Board members noted that surrounding schools which had their tax levies defeated, planned to hold special elections in June.

McElroy Writes Letter To Life; Contents Secret

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' chief assistant has written to Life magazine concerning its recent story about Rhodes.

John McElroy confirmed he had written the letter but declined to disclose its contents.

"It's strictly mine," McElroy said of the letter. "If they (Life) distort it then I'll give the straight text."

The magazine story two weeks ago alleged that Rhodes used some campaign funds for personal purposes and has settled tax claims by paying in excess of $100,000 in taxes, interest and penalties on unreported income over the past 10 years.

Rhodes denied the allegations.

Henley Granted Execution Stay After Appeal

CINCINNATI (AP) — Lee Arthur Henley, convicted murderer who has spent nearly four years on death row at the Ohio State Penitentiary, was granted a stay of execution Tuesday—three days before he was scheduled to die in the electric chair.

The stay—until June 23—was handed down by the Ohio 1st District Court of Appeals on an appeal by Henley of a Hamilton County Common Pleas Court decision Monday.

It was another in a series of stays granted him since he was convicted in mid-1965 of the first degree murder of a grocery employee in June 1964.

The employee was Pete Mazes, 37-year-old father of two who was killed after he refused to sell Henley, 19, high-powered beer.

Economists See Slow Bleeding Off Of Inflation Pressure

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Economists in and out of the government say the administration's attack on inflation will cut down the booming wage-price spiral, but they don't look for a quick victory.

"I wouldn't want to make a prediction tied to a few months," said Herbert N. Stein of the Council of Economic Advisors in an interview, "but by the end of this year we should see inflation running at a significantly lower rate."

Even then, Stein said, "I think it will be going on through 1970."

Interviews with other economists turned up general agreement that bleeding inflation out of the economy will have to be done gradually. Cold turkey cures got no support at all.

William A. Chartener, assistant secretary of commerce for economic affairs, stressed the need for persistence and patience.

"We're in a period of very rapid growth," Chartener said. "There is power, there is momentum, there is confidence from this kind of growth that makes it very difficult to reverse or even slow down the economy."

Also interviewed by The Associated Press in a sampling of what government and nongovernment economists think about the nation's No. 1 economic problem were Carl Madden, chief economist of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and Nat Goldfinger, research director of the AFL-CIO.

Here are excerpts from the question-and-answer sessions:

Q. Will some lessening of inflation be visible this year?
MADDEN: There are some early signs that the monetary and fiscal policy mix has slowed down the real growth of the economy already. However, we know from past experience that prices can continue to rise after the economy has slowed down. I would expect the price rises to slacken off a little just a few months from now.

Q. You expect improvement that quickly?
A. In a matter of a few months—but only in those goods in which there is traditionally a considerable amount of price flexibility. Durable goods, retail hardgoods, but not in the prices of services such as hospital daily charges, domestic service, local transit fares, postal charges, physician's fees, men's haircuts and the like.

Q.—To Chartener—What do you think the new wage pattern is likely to be if strong price increases continue?
CHARTENER: It is very difficult to tell a union or union members that when they see living costs going up 5 per cent, or their taxes going up, that they ought to be content with a wage increase that doesn't at least enable them to hold even with the cost of living.

Last year, wage increases averaged something over 6 per cent. I hope we'll be able to do better than that before the year is over. But it will be difficult while workers see living costs going up so fast.

Q.—To Goldfinger—You say you feel the policies now in use probably will do the job expected of them but that better ones (Continued on Page 2)

Nixon Ready For TV Talk On Viet War

Associates See No Big Break Behind Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, responding to what associates say is a public demand for a summation of the Vietnam situation, goes before the nation tonight to give what is expected to be a cautiously optimistic assessment of peace prospects.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the speech, to be broadcast live at 10 p.m. EDT on national television and radio, will contain some new material, but cautioned against expecting an announcement of a peace breakthrough.

Nixon associates also said the President's speech will outline how matters now stand in light of the Viet Cong's 10-point peace proposal rather than announcing the breaking of new ground. An indication the President is preparing an early formal answer to the Viet Cong came when Ziegler said Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will arrive during the afternoon for new instructions before flying back to Paris Thursday. The next Paris meeting is Friday.

Finances, Science Class Top School Board Agenda

Finances, a new science program and the employment of teachers topped the discussion of the Circleville Board of Education meeting in regular session Tuesday night.

The board members discussed the recent defeat of the proposed 6.7 mill tax levy increase.

Board members noted that surrounding schools which had their tax levies defeated, planned to hold special elections in June.

A special meeting of the board was set for noon Wednesday to consider possible response to the defeat of the school levy and the need for operating funds during the next school year.

A RESOLUTION suggesting new sources of tax money and a more equal distribution of funds within a county was prepared by the board. The resolution was ordered sent to State Senator Harry Armstrong and Representative Merle Shoemaker.

The resolution expressed the deep concern of the board with the increasing demands upon education and the lack of finances to meet these demands.

"Basic support and improvements in elementary and secondary education requires a higher level of state funding," according to the resolution.

Personal wealth and the ability to pay are no longer related to the ownership of property, the board stated in the resolution. For this reason they recommended that a "source of income to support our school should be related to a tax that is immediately responsive to the fluctuations of the economy."

Such a tax would probably be an income tax, according to one member of the board.

The board also acted on a recommendation by Superintendent Fritz Jacobs to implement an advanced science program at the high school.

THE program is to be a student oriented program with the student working in a specific area of his own choice.

The project is designed to encourage independent research with a total involvement by the student.

A student taking the course would submit a topic of study to his instructor before the close of school in June. Shortly after the start of school in the autumn he would be required to submit an outline of his project for approval.

During the year, the student would spend seven periods a week on the project. Five of the periods would be spent in the laboratory and two in the classroom.

The course would carry one-half credit.

In other business before the board, it was decided not to pay a $3,639.34 assessment for a storm sewer in the north-end that allegedly drains part of Atwater School.

THE board decided to file a protest with the Equalizing Board and refuse to pay on the grounds that the sewer does not provide benefits to the extent of the assessment.

A motion to dedicate Clark Drive to the city of Circleville was made by Virgil Cress. The board approved the motion and (Continued on Page 2)

CHS Board Hires New Cage Mentor

John Lawhorn, 30, has been employed by the Circleville Board of Education as varsity basketball coach, cross country and reserve basketball coach and social studies teacher.

Lawhorn replaces Gerald Soudwer who is stepping out of the teaching and coaching profession to accept a more lucrative position with a contracting firm.

The new CHS coach has been coaching at East Clinton High School for the past five years and is no stranger to the South Central Ohio League.

East Clinton, an independent Class A school, has played

Wilmington, Washington C. H. Hillsboro and Greenfield.

DURING his four year career as EC varsity coach, Lawhorn's teams compiled a 55-28 record. This past year East Clinton's Astros were 14-8 for the season and won the Cincinnati sectional winners. The Astros were beaten by Lincoln Heights in the district finals.

McElroy Writes Letter To Life; Contents Secret

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' chief assistant has written to Life magazine concerning its recent story about Rhodes.

John M. McElroy confirmed he had written the letter but declined to disclose its contents.

"It's strictly mine," McElroy said of the letter. "If they (Life) distort it then I'll give the straight text."

The magazine story two weeks ago alleged that Rhodes used some campaign funds for personal purposes and has settled tax claims by paying in excess of $100,000 in taxes, interest and penalties on unreported income over the past 10 years.

1,800 Reds, 100 Americans Reported Dead

SAIGON (AP) — Casualty tolls mounted today as heavy fighting continued across South Vietnam for the third day. Allied military sources claimed more than 1,800 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, many of them by American bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery.

Military sources estimated more than 100 U.S. troops had been killed and several hundred wounded since the sudden upsurge in enemy attacks Sunday night.

South Vietnamese losses were put at 273 troops killed, 745 wounded and 22 missing.

The biggest fight of the last 24 hours raged 30 miles northwest of Saigon as American infantrymen from the 25th Division and U.S. bombers and artillery battered North Vietnamese troops entrenched in fortified positions.

After four hours, the North Vietnamese force retreated, leaving 50 of their dead on the battlefield. Three Americans were reported killed.

The area northwest of Saigon and the jungled foothills south of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, have seen the stiffest fighting during the past three days.

In a two-day fight six miles southwest of Da Nang, 81 enemy soldiers were reported killed by U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese militiamen. Eleven Marines were killed and 22 wounded; there was no report of the casualties among the militiamen.

Military analysts consider the steepen in enemy attacks part of the effort to force a coalition government on South Vietnam and to increase demands in the United States for a withdrawal of American troops by inflicting higher U.S. casualties.

Military spokesmen reported more than 30 enemy rocket and mortar attacks Tuesday night, compared with 40 the previous night and more than 200 Sunday night.

Henley Granted Execution Stay After Appeal

CINCINNATI (AP) — Lee Arthur Henley, convicted murderer who has spent nearly four years on death row at the Ohio State Penitentiary, was granted a stay of execution Tuesday—three days before he was scheduled to die in the electric chair.

The stay—until June 23—was handed down by the Ohio 1st District Court of Appeals on an appeal by Henley of a Hamilton County Common Pleas Court decision Monday.

It was another in a series of stays granted him since he was convicted in mid-1965 of the first degree murder of a grocery employee in June 1964.

The employee was Pete Mazes, 31-year-old father of two who was killed after he refused to sell Henley, 19, high-powered beer.

Economists See Slow Bleeding Off Of Inflation Pressure

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economists in and out of the government say the administration's attack on inflation will cut down the booming wage-price spiral, but they don't look for a quick victory.

"I wouldn't want to make a prediction tied to a few months," said Herbert N. Stein of the Council of Economic Advisers in an interview, "but by the end of this year we should see inflation running at a significantly lower rate."

Even then, Stein said, "I think it will be going on through 1970."

Interviews with other economists turned up general agreement that bleeding inflation out of the economy will have to be done gradually. Cold turkey cures got no support at all.

William A. Chartener, assistant secretary of commerce for economic affairs, stressed the need for persistence and patience.

"We're in a period of very rapid growth," Chartener said. "There is power, there is momentum, there is confidence from this kind of growth that makes it very difficult to reverse or even slow down the economy."

Also interviewed by The Associated Press in a sampling of what government and nongovernment economists think about the nation's No. 1 economic problem were Carl Madden, chief economist of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and Nat Goldfinger, research director of the AFL-CIO.

Here are excerpts from the question-and-answer sessions:

Q. Will some lessening of inflation be visible this year?

MADDEN: There are some early signs that the monetary and fiscal policy mix has slowed down the real growth of the economy already. However, we know from past experience that prices can continue to rise after the economy has slowed down. I would expect the price rises to slacken off a little just a few months from now.

Q. You expect improvement that quickly?

A. In a matter of a few months—but only in those goods in which there is traditionally a considerable amount of price flexibility. Durable goods, retail hardgoods, but not in the prices of services such as hospital daily charges, domestic service, local transit fares, postal charges, physician's fees, men's haircuts and the like.

Q.—To Chartener—What do you think the new wage pattern is likely to be if strong price increases continue?

CHARTENER: It is very difficult to tell a union or union members that when they see living costs going up 5 per cent, or their taxes going up, that they ought to be content with a wage increase that doesn't at least enable them to hold even with the cost of living.

Last year, wage increases averaged something over 6 per cent. I hope we'll be able to do better than that before the year is over. But it will be difficult while workers see living costs going up so fast.

Q.—To Goldfinger—You say you feel the policies now in use probably will do the job expected of them but that better ones

Evers Wins Mayor Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Charles Evers, a Negro civil rights leader, has been elected mayor of Fayette, Miss.

Except in all-Negro Mound Bayou, Evers was the only outright winner among 13 members of his race running for mayor in Mississippi communities in municipal elections Tuesday. However, 11 Negroes won places on town boards and another 11 captured enough votes to force runoff elections with white opponents.

In Jersey City, N.J., Mayor Thomas Whelan finished first in a field of five in the mayoralty race but failed to obtain a majority and will take part in a runoff with former mayor Thomas Gangemi June 17.

Evers, state field director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, becomes the first Negro mayor in southwest Mississippi since 1875. He received 386 votes to 225 for the incumbent, Mayor R.G. Allen, in the town of 1,600.

"The main objective of my administration will be to show that black and white can work together," Evers said. "That includes the black extremists and the white bigots. I want to show that we can have a safe town. I will not tolerate lawlessness."

Brenda Mills Receives $300 Award

Brenda Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills, Route 4, was an alternate winner in the annual scholarship awards program of the Ohio Rural Electric Cooperatives Inc.

Sponsored by South Central Power Co., Brenda won $300 as alternate in the girls' division of the contest. Awards were presented at a Monday night banquet in Columbus.

The 46 contestants in the program were from high schools over most of the state and represented 23 rural electric cooperatives. Students had to be seniors to qualify and parents had to be customers of REA. Applications to the program were made through the student's school with recommendations made by school officials based entirely on the academic record of the student.

Brenda is a senior at Logan Elm High School.

might have been chosen. Can you elaborate?

GOLDFINGER: I think the mix of restraints has been at least partly wrong. The most important issue is the cost that the nation may have to pay in rising unemployment.

Q. Do the remedies being employed add up to an unacceptably high rate of unemployment in the near future?

A. That remains to be seen. You just can't say at this point.

Q. But about the flaws that you feel exist in the general blend of restraints.

A. We think that what's called for is more of an analysis of the causes of inflation, much more of pinpoint approach to doing something about it instead of these broad, across-the-board measures. In other words, a rifle shot as against a shotgun blast.

The measures that are being taken across the board are hitting the wrong people, hitting them first and hitting them hardest. They're hitting small businessmen, home buyers and consumers.

And at the same time the big corporations, which should be the target, can avoid the impact. Tight money policy, for instance. They can avoid it because of their large internal cash flows and the cooperation of the banks.

Bricklayers On Strike At Lucasville

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — A bricklayers strike in Scioto and Adams counties has brought construction to a virtual standstill, including work on the $25 million state penitentiary being built at Lucasville.

A major power generating project near Aberdeen on the Ohio River is not affected, but several million dollars worth of work on schools, businesses and lesser projects have been hit by the strike.

Bricklayers' Union Local 39 is demanding a $3 per hour raise over two years. Brick masons now earn $5.40 an hour.

Contractors have offered a flat $1.92 per hour hike.

"It's really hurting us," said William H. Colley, job coordinator for the Ohio Department of Public Works, in referring to the work stoppage at the penitentiary site.

Members of 10 other unions are honoring the bricklayers' picket lines.

"They're not close to a settlement," Colley said.

The state hoped to have the new prison completed by late 1970. But the strike, already two weeks old, could put off the completion date.

Photojournalist Sets Talk At AP Meeting
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Charles L. Scott, former graphics director of The Chicago Daily News and now director of photojournalism at Ohio University, will address the spring meeting of The Associated Press Society of Ohio here May 25.

Scott, a veteran of 30 years in news photography, joins Relman Morin, Pulitzer prize winning special correspondent of The Associated Press, on the society's two-day program May 24-25.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Automobile Association will fight again to keep a bill requiring reflectorized license plates from becoming law.

The Senate passed the measure 24-5 Tuesday over the opposition of the American Automobile Association affiliate.

The battle now moves to the House.

Robert Hyatt, research director of the Ohio AAA, said the law would be a waste of money. The plates would cost an extra 50 cents.

"You can get a piece of reflectorized tape for a dime, put it on your bumper and it will last the life of your car," said Hyatt.

Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R - 2, Findlay, the bill's sponsor, said the plates would help reduce accidents. He has sponsored similar bills unsuccessfully for three sessions.

An administration bill to require state meat inspection after July 1 also was introduced by Guyer. The program would be a joint federal-state effort.

A meat inspection bill was passed last session, but it was not funded. The appropriations bill contains funds for this measure.

A bill to appropriate $1 million from the liquor control rotary fund to put color photo on driver's licenses was introduced by Sen. Harry L. Armstrong, R-17 Logan.

A bill to upgrade thoroughbred racing was co-sponsored by Sens. Robert R. Shaw, R-16 Columbus, and Charles J. Carney, D - 33 Youngstown. They said it would put Ohio racing on par with other states.

It provides for a major stake race during each race meeting. It also creates an Ohio Sires Stake Fund to be used for purses.

To be eligible to race for the purse, the foal would have to be sired by an Ohio stallion.

The bill would also extend by two months the racing season at most Ohio tracks. It would permit split racing days and would reduce the tax on parimutuel betting.

Carney said the bill, if adopted, could boost the state's racing receipts from $15 to $20 million a year by 1975.

The administration's $409 million capital improvements bill was not introduced in the House Tuesday as expected. House Finance Committee Chairman Rep. Ralph E. Fisher, R - 24 Wooster, said he planned to introduce the bill today.

The House Tuesday received a bill to permit the state to issue bonds for the construction of a toll bridge across the Ohio River between Chester, W. Va., and East Liverpool, Ohio.

The bridge currently at the site was closed Tuesday as unsafe for heavy traffic.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said he cleared the Nixon draft proposal in advance with Stennis and another key Democrat, Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, former Armed Services Committee chairman who now heads the Appropriations Committee.

Laird said the administration hopes to see the Nixon proposal tested first in the Senate, then in the more troublesome House.

Mansfield, in announcing his opposition, said the draft system has too many inequities, too many deferrals.

But Mansfield, too, said the Nixon proposal would prove attractive to his colleagues.

CHS Board . . . Disobeying Signal Tops Court Docket

A Circleville youth who failed to obey the flashing beacon light of a Highway Patrol cruiser topped the Municipal Court docket Tuesday.

Edward Amann, 19, of 426 E. Franklin St., was speeding when a patrolman flashed both his spotlight and beacon light at him. Amann failed to respond and was chased by the patrol cruiser, according to the report.

Amann entered pleas of guilty to failing to obey the cruiser light and to speeding 50 miles per hour in a 30 mile zone. He was fined $15 plus costs on each charge.

Chester Jery Jr., 22, of 320 Cedar Heights Road, entered a plea of no contest a charge of parking on a highway. He was fined $10 plus costs.

Ronald Bush, 26, Williamsport, received a suspended $10 fine for making unnecessary noise with his car.

George Terfinger, 39, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, charged with being intoxicated on a public road, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $10 plus costs.

The court collected $134 in fines, costs and bond forfeitures from six out-of-county motorists.

Drug Arrests Bring Shock In Port Clinton

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Shocked to its roots, angry.

This is Port Clinton the Western Lake Erie resort city, an entire community bracing itself for the next wave of narcotics arrests to strike its youth.

Frightened parents ask whose children will be next?

It appears certain now that the next arrests will involve a younger group, children of high school age and perhaps some younger.

Authorities, who have clamped a shroud of secrecy on their investigations, make broad hints that additional arrests are imminent.

In the last two weeks the town has watched in disbelief as 27 young people, most in their late teens and early 20's were brought into criminal court in groups to plead to charges of possession of marijuana and LSD, keeping a place where narcotics were used, and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

How widespread will the arrests of juveniles be?

Prosecutor Lowell S. Petersen declined to comment, but Sheriff James C. Ellenberger remarked in a statement that may have been exaggerated but was believed to be indicative:

"If we arrested every school kid who uses marijuana every high school around here would have to close."

How did the youth of this town of 7,600 become exposed to narcotics?

Petersen pointed out that the county's year-round population of about 35,000 swells to above 200,000 during the summer when vacationers pour into the area.

He thinks that Port Clinton youths picked up their narcotics habits from association with these visitors.

"We're more sophisticated than most towns our size," the prosecutor added.

Letters and anonymous telephone calls, some from people in a vengeful mood, have bombarded authorities. It is a subject that the authorities do not like to talk about.

Clamp Lid On Licavoli

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A tight clamp against news interviews with prisoners at Ohio State Penitentiary today followed two with Thomas "Yonnie" Licavoli, former mob leader whose name was linked with Gov. James A. Rhodes' in a Life magazine article.

After two broadcasts interviews with Licavoli, Rhodes' chief aide, John M. McElroy, revealed with prison authorities what he called long standing ruses against them.

McElroy said his action came after Prison Warden Harold Cardwell explained on a Cleveland television station had interviewed Licavoli on the Ohio State University campus. A Columbus television station also interviewed the former Mafia leader.

Licavoli, serving a life term for murder, was reportedly taken to an eye clinic at the university Monday for examination.

"I said that regardless of what had been done, to stop everything, all interviews, as of now," McElroy said after his attention had been brought to a request for still another interview with Licavoli.

New Midwest War Predicted

TEL AVIV (AP)—A Israeli Cabinet minister said Tuesday night that war with Egypt is unavoidable and will break out as soon as Egypt is fully rearmed by the Soviet Union.

Police Minister Eliahi Sasson told a rally in Ashkelon, "The Egyptian harassment on the Suez Canal is nothing but a dress rehearsal for crossing the canal."

Sporadic artillery, mortar and light weapon clashes occurred along a 20-mile northern stretch of the Suez Canal Tuesday night and into today, an Israeli army spokesman said.

Brenda Mills Receives $300 Award

Brenda Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills, Route 4, was an alternate winner in the annual scholarship awards program of the Ohio Rural Electric Cooperatives Inc.

Sponsored by South Central Power Co., Brenda won $300 as alternate in the girls' division of the contest. Awards were presented at a Monday night banquet in Columbus.

The 46 contestants in the program were from high schools over most of the state and represented 23 rural electric cooperatives. Students had to be seniors to qualify and parents had to be customers of REA. Applications to the program were made through the student's school with recommendations made by school officials based entirely on the academic record of the student.

Brenda is a senior at Logan Elm High School.

might have been chosen. Can you elaborate?

GOLDFINGER: I think the mix of restraints has been at least partly wrong. The most important issue is the cost that the nation may have to pay in rising unemployment.

Q. Do the remedies being employed add up to an acceptably high rate of unemployment in the near future?

A. That remains to be seen. You just can't say at this point.

Q. But about the flaws that you feel exist in the general blend of restraints.

A. We think that what's called for is more of an analysis of the causes of inflation, much more of a pinpoint approach to doing something about it instead of these broad, across-the-board measures. In other words, a rifle shot as against a shotgun blast.

The measures that are being taken across the board are hitting the wrong people, hitting them first and hitting them hardest. They're hitting small businessmen, home buyers and consumers.

And at the same time the big corporations, which should be the target, can avoid the impact. Tight money policy, for instance. They can avoid it because of their large internal cash flows and the cooperation of the banks.

Bricklayers On Strike At Lucasville

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — A bricklayers strike in Scioto and Adams counties has brought construction to a virtual standstill, including work on the $25 million state penitentiary being built at Lucasville.

A major power generating project near Aberdeen on the Ohio River is not affected, but several million dollars worth of work on schools, businesses and lesser projects have been hit by the strike.

Bricklayer's Union Local 39 is demanding a $3 per hour raise over two years. Brick masons now earn $5.40 an hour.

Contractors have offered a flat $1.92 per hour hike. "It's really hurting us," said William H. Colley, job coordinator for the Ohio Department of Public Works, in referring to the work stoppage at the penitentiary site.

Members of 10 other unions are honoring the bricklayers' picket lines.

"They're not close to a settlement," Colley said. The state hoped to have the new prison completed by late 1970. But the strike, already two weeks old, could put off the completion date.

Fight Reflectorized License Tags

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Automobile Association will fight again to keep a bill requiring reflectorized license plates from becoming law. The Senate passed the measure 24-5 Tuesday over the opposition of the American Automobile Association affiliate.

The battle now moves to the House. Robert Hyatt, research director of the Ohio AAA, said the law would be a waste of money. The plates would cost an extra 50 cents.

"You can get a piece of reflectorized tape for a dime, put it on your bumper and it will last the life of your car," said Hyatt. Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R-2, Findlay, the bill's sponsor, said the plates would help reduce accidents. He has sponsored similar bills unsuccessfully for three sessions.

SHASTA IS 21—Believed the only Liger in captivity, Shasta, a cross between a lion and a tiger, lolls in the sun on her 21st birthday at the Hogle Zoo in St. Louis, Mo. She was born at the zoo, the daughter of Huey the lion and Daisy, a Bengal tiger.

Senate Support Widespread For Changes In Draft Setup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has responded favorably to President Nixon's lottery-based draft reform plan, but the two top Democratic leaders are split on the issue.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says the Nixon plan is "a step in a direction that will satisfy some members," but he will vote against it because it doesn't cure enough inequities in the draft.

Democratic Whip Edward M. Kennedy, however, praised the President's proposals, saying they "embody the reforms we most urgently need."

And a Republican critic of the Vietnam War, Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, saw the Nixon message, issued Tuesday, as a sign the GOP administration is not nearing a solution to the war.

"It discourages me about what we can expect from their war policy," Hatfield said in an interview, but he acknowledged he would probably find few allies in opposing the Nixon draft program.

While there was ample evidence of support for the reform proposals in the Senate, the plan could face a stiffer test in the House where a ban on lottery selection was written into the draft law extension two years ago.

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Service Committee, said

Tuesday: "I have no strong feelings either for or against the lottery concept."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he would consider adoption of the lottery plan on a trial basis, with no commitment to make it permanent.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said he cleared the Nixon draft proposal in advance with Stennis and another key Democrat, Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, former Armed Services Committee chairman who now heads the Appropriations Committee.

Laird said the administration hopes to see the Nixon proposal tested first in the Senate, then in the more troublesome House.

Mansfield, in announcing his opposition, said the draft system has too many inequities, too many deferments.

But Mansfield, too, said the Nixon proposal would prove attractive to his colleagues.

He attended Rio Grande College, receiving a BS degree in secondary education. He played basketball at Rio Grande.

Upon graduation from college, he was an assistant at Belfast High School in Highland County for two years. He went to East Clinton as an assistant in 1964 and the following year became head coach.

Married, he and his wife Donita, are the parents of a year-old daughter, Johna.

LAWHORN stated that he did not lean towards any particular style or pattern of play.

"We try to play on both ends of the court. We stress a man to man defense although we play a little zone," he said. The new coach noted that even the zone defenses he coached had man to man coverage in the zones.

He said that during his four years at East Clinton, he seldom used the same style of offense.

"We'll run if the opportunity presents itself and we will play some pattern basketball," he said.

Lawhorn said he accepted the head position at Circleville because he felt it was a step up and presented a challenge.

In looking over the SCO League for next year, he singled out Washington C. H. as perhaps the top team, although he was quick to point out that Miami Trace is always tough and that Wilmington had a great reserve team this past year.

HE also noted that Greenfield has a lot of personnel returning, including a 6-foot 7-inch player.

Other basketball coaches this next year will be Kelly Boyer, reserve team; Darryl Young, freshmen; Dennis Stewart, junior high; Walt Gruesser, seventh and eighth intramural program.

Drug Arrests Bring Shock In Port Clinton

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Shocked to its roots, Angry.

This is Port Clinton the Western Lake Erie resort city, an entire community bracing itself for the next wave of narcotics arrests to strike its youth.

Frightened parents ask whose children will be next?

It appears certain now that the next arrests will involve a younger group, children of high school age and perhaps some younger.

Authorities, who have clamped a shroud of secrecy on their investigations, make broad hints that additional arrests are imminent.

In the last two weeks the town has watched in disbelief as 27 young people, most in their late teens and early 20's were brought into criminal court in groups to plead to charges of possession of marijuana and LSD, keeping a place where narcotics were used, and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

How widespread will the arrests of juveniles be?

Prosecutor Lowell S. Peterson declined to comment, but Sheriff James C. Ellenberger remarked in a statement that may have been exaggerated but was believed to be indicative:

"If we arrested every school kid who uses marijuana every high school around here would have to close."

How did the youth of this town of 7,600 become exposed to narcotics?

Petersen pointed out that the county's year-round population of about 35,000 swells to above 200,000 during the summer when vacationers pour into the area.

He thinks that Port Clinton youths picked up their narcotics habits from association with these visitors.

"We're more sophisticated than most towns our size," the prosecutor added.

Letters and anonymous telephone calls, some from people in a vengeful mood, have bombarded authorities. It is a subject that the authorities do not like to talk about.

An administration bill to require state meat inspection after July 1 also was introduced by Guyer. The program would be a joint federal-state effort.

A meat inspection bill was passed last session, but it was not funded. The appropriations bill contains funds for this measure.

A bill to appropriate $1 million from the liquor control rotary fund to put color photo on driver's licenses was introduced by Sen. Harry L. Armstrong, R-17 Logan.

A bill to upgrade thoroughbred racing was co-sponsored by Sens. Robert R. Shaw, R-16 Columbus, and Charles J. Carney, D - 33 Youngstown. They said it would put Ohio racing on par with other states.

It provides for a major stake race during each race meeting. It also creates an Ohio Sires Stake Fund to be used for purses.

To be eligible to race for the purse, the foal would have to be sired by an Ohio stallion.

The bill would also extend by two months the racing season at most Ohio tracks. It would permit split racing days and would reduce the tax on parimutuel betting.

Carney said the bill, if adopted, could boost the state's racing receipts from $15 to $20 million a year by 1972.

The administration's $409 million capital improvements bill was not introduced in the House Tuesday as expected. House Finance Committee Chairman Rep. Ralph E. Fisher, R - 24 Wooster, said he planned to introduce the bill today.

The House Tuesday received a bill to permit the state to issue bonds for the construction of a toll bridge across the Ohio River between Chester, W. Va., and East Liverpool, Ohio.

The bridge currently at the site was closed Tuesday as unsafe for heavy traffic.

Clamp Lid On Licavoli

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— A tight clamp against news interviews with prisoners at Ohio State Penitentiary today followed two with Thomas "Yonnie" Licavoli, former mob leader whose name was linked with Gov. James A. Rhodes' in a Life magazine article.

After two broadcasts interviews with Licavoli, Rhodes' chief aide, John M. McElroy, reviewed with prison authorities what he called long standing rules against them.

McElroy said his action came after Prison Warden Harold Cardwell explained on a Cleveland television station had interviewed Licavoli on the Ohio State University campus. A Columbus television station also interviewed the former Mafia leader.

Licavoli, serving a life term for murder, was reportedly taken to an eye clinic at the university Monday for examination.

"I said that regardless of what had been done, to stop everything, all interviews, as of now," McElroy said after his attention had been brought to a request for still another interview with Licavoli.

A Circleville youth who failed to obey the flashing beacon light of a Highway Patrol cruiser topped the Municipal Court docket Tuesday.

Edward Amann, 19, of 426 E. Franklin St., was speeding when a patrolman flashed both his spotlight and beacon light at him. Amann failed to respond and was chased by the patrol cruiser, according to the report.

Amann entered pleas of guilty to failing to obey the cruiser light and to speeding 50 miles per hour in a 30 mile zone. He was fined $15 plus costs on each charge.

Chester Jerry Jr., 22, of 320 Cedar Heights Road, entered a plea of no contest a charge of parking on a highway. He was fined $10 plus costs.

Ronald Bush, 26, Williamsport, received a suspended $10 fine for making unnecessary noise with his car.

George Terfingler, 39, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, charged with being intoxicated on a public road, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $10 plus costs.

The court collected $134 in fines, costs and bond forfeitures from six out-of-county motorists.

After De Gaulle

Those who remember the chaos which symbolized French political life for the dozen years or so between the end of World War II and the beginning of the De Gaulle reign shudder at the thought Paris might return to that condition in the wake of President De Gaulle's resignation.

Already some of the splinter parties, particularly the communists, are angling for a share of the new government pie. Although several Gaullists are mentioned as possible successors to the presidency, none approaches the commanding stature of Charles de Gaulle.

Certainly the United States, Britain and other western countries had reason not to be fond of the retired French leader, but the alternative to a strong leader in a nation which exhibits frequent tendencies toward self-destruction is frightening.

What the world certainly does not need at this time is a chaotic France, a discredited franc, or a coalition government in Paris with a sizable bloc of communists among its ministers.

The question is whether the French people agree.

Try and Stop Me

"THE SYMPTOM that bothers me most," a new patient confided to a renowned psychiatrist, "is my increasing distrust of everybody I meet—including even my oldest

"By your watch or mine?" demanded the patient.

Adlai Stevenson, who knew how to tell a good story, broke up a Long Island rally one night by recalling the prudish, tight-lipped old maid who would not even allow her pet cat

This time in New York, however, the old maid encountered a handsome old rogue who swept her off her feet. After four nights of blissful romancing she wired her maid, "Having the time of my life. LET THE CAT OUT!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

An understandable health precaution and Board of Health ruling was expressed in a sign in the window of a food supermarket. In big black letters it read "NO DOGS ALLOWED."

This made good sense. Tied outside to a meter station was a typical darling, adorable, sad eyed, lonely, and enchanting "friendly dog." So inviting was he to be petted that in a flash he had bitten deep into the face of a 5-year-old boy who was captivated by his apparent gentleness.

Children simply must be taught that there is no animal that can be safely approached by a stranger without the definite approval and permission of its owner. This should be a fixed rule of safety.

To approach any dog of any size, tied or chained, is to deliberately expose oneself, child or adult to the hazards of a bite. A chained dog is threatened by any movement. Even if the hand is gently extended it is a hazard. An unchained dog may be petted only after he smells your hand and comes to you.

Many permanent scars on the hands and face of children are evidence that tied dogs must be avoided. An added point of safety for children to know that it is dangerous to take food or a bone away from a dog, even if he is your own. Owners of pets that are tied outside of stores, where a heavy traffic of children is to be expected, are deliberately exposing themselves to law-suits by such carelessness. And remember, too, that all bites by strange or even familiar dogs should be seen and treated to avoid the possibility of infection and rabies, as remote as it may be.

The esophagus which carries food from the mouth into the stomach is remarkably hardy, despite the delicacy of its structure. Normally food passes through it without interruption unless there is some anatomical disorder of the esophagus which makes swallowing difficult. Another anatomical condition is a pouch or diverticulum high in the esophagus which traps food and makes people aware of a sticking sensation in the chest.

Teddy Starts Campaign

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

In sponsoring the anti-ABM report of Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Professor Abram Chayes of Harvard, Senator Teddy Kennedy is, in practical effect, staking his 1972 Presidential candidacy on the good behavior of the Soviet Union. For if the U.S. decides against deploying any sort of defense system against intercontinental ballistic missiles and Moscow continues to increase its already huge stock of missiles both offensive and defensive, the Republicans would be able to throw a real adverse weapons "gap" in the Senator's face.

In the nature of things, it is a terrible chance that Teddy Kennedy is taking. For everything must click to make him look good. To validate Teddy as a prophet, the Russians will have to dismantle some of their own ABM defenses. And there will have to be a genuine relaxation of tensions around the world.

Is this likely to happen? There could be relaxation in specific theatres. But there has never been a total relaxation in all the years since 1918. An arms reduction treaty with the Soviets that did not include inspection would prove little: as students of Communist behavior have pointed out, the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia in August of 1968 violated seventeen treaties, one of which was less than three weeks old.

The Dr. Wiesner theory, which was brought by former Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, has held that once the Soviets had achieved "parity" with us in the missile race, a relaxation would necessarily follow. But the Soviets, instead of responding to the implied invitation to stop arming when a plateau had been reached, have gone right ahead with their missile program past any actual "parity" point.

The very thorough report of the American Security Council, just issued, is absolutely conclusive on this. In 1966 the Soviets had 250 intercontinental ballistic missiles. Three years later they had 1,250. By 1973, as Secretary of Defense Laird says, they could have 2,500. Even at this point the Soviets have us severely under the gun. For the comparative population densities of Russia and the U.S. mean that two hundred Soviet missiles could take as many American lives as a thousand U.S. missiles could account for in a strike against the far more decentralized

USSR. We have already given a bigger "population hostage" to the Russians than we can afford.

Teddy Kennedy's suggestion that the Wiesner-Chayes anti-ABM report was necessary to counteract the fact that only the Pentagon side of the story had been told is almost laughable. For in calling non-governmental witnesses the Gore subcommittee on International Organization and Disarmament Affairs stacked the deck against the ABM by a 10-to-2 margin. Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut, who in early May had not yet reached a final decision on how to vote on the ABM, asked Gore to hear some of the pro-ABM witnesses just to give him some balance for his own information. Accordingly, Dr. Edward Teller, a pro-ABM scientist who persuaded President Truman to go ahead with the hydrogen bomb, is scheduled to be heard today, and Dr. Eugene Wigner, a Nobel Prize winner who teaches nuclear physics at Princeton, will appear before the Senate subcommittee in behalf of the ABM on May 21. Even so, the ratio of anti-ABM to pro-ABM scientists appearing before the Senate will be 12-to-4.

So Teddy Kennedy, Dr. Wiesner, and Professor Chayes seem to be succeeding with their snow job. The mail against the ABM has been heavily organized by institutions that have a pacifist or a "trust-Russia" bias. Senators say they can tell by the formal content of the letters that most of them have been inspired. The Congressional mail on the subject of the campus disruptions, which runs 100-to-1 against Students for a Democratic Society nihilism, is in distinct contrast to the anti-ABM mail in being obviously unmanipulated and undictated.

All of this is not to say that Teddy Kennedy may not win in 1972 as a result of his anti-ABM stand. But if he is to be the winner, the Moscow leopard will have to change its spots. Who will take bets on that?

Pueblo Exec Quits Navy

BOSTON (AP) — Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., executive officer of the USS Pueblo when the intelligence ship was seized by North Korea last year, has resigned from the Navy, the Christian Science Monitor reports in its Thursday edition.

"The results of the court of inquiry into the Pueblo matter and subsequent actions of the Navy in regard to my career leave me no alternative," the Monitor quoted Murphy as saying in a letter of resignation.

The Monitor said the letter was sent to Murphy's superiors today from St. Louis, where he was visiting Principia College, his alma mater.

The Monitor said Murphy was dissatisfied over the board of inquiry's recommendation that he be given a "letter of admonition" for alleged dereliction in the performance of his duties at the time of the Pueblo's seizure.

The board's recommendation was forwarded to Navy Secretary John H. Chafee. Chafee decided not to pursue disciplinary action against Murphy or any other Pueblo crew members, saying they had suffered enough.

The extent of the change is illustrated in a new survey by the American Film Institute. Says George Stevens Jr., institute director: "The report reveals that 219 higher learning institutions now have courses in film, an 84 per cent growth in the last five years. Some 5,300 students are preparing for a career in film production, scholarship or teaching; 4,144 are undergraduates majoring in film and 1,191 are graduate students."

In addition, there are tens of thousands of other students taking elective courses in film history, appreciation or production.

For several years USC was the only university offering degrees in film. Now there are 51, ranging alphabetically from the University of Alabama to the University of Wisconsin. Ten universities offer the degree of doctor of philosophy in film: Florida State, Indiana, Iowa, Northwestern, Ohio, Ohio State, Pennsylvania, southern California, Texas and Wisconsin.

Added to the 51 schools with film degrees are 168 that include film courses in their curricula. Most of these are studies in history and appreciation of film, but subjects also include screen writing, production, animation, editing and photography.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jack Warner's gift last week of $1.5 million to the University of Southern California's Division of Cinema marked a giant step forward for the nation's oldest film school.

The longtime boss of Warner Brothers made the donation for the building of the Ann and Jack Warner Hall of Cinema, which will be part of the university's $4.4 million Center for the Performing Arts. It will replace the barracks-like buildings that have housed the Cinema school since World War II.

Despite its ramshackle headquarters, the USC cinema department has produced 5,000 graduates, many of them important figures in the film industry of Hollywood and foreign countries. Some 350 full-time students currently take courses from the 14 full-time and part-time faculty members, plus guest lecturers like Jerry Lewis and King Vidor.

The cinema school has come a long way from its beginnings 40 years ago. During the early years there was much snickering in academic circles over the fact that a university would design to offer courses in the study of movies. That attitude has changed.

NEW YORK (AP) — The equity or income kicker, which gives mortgage lenders on income properties some of the profits as well as interest, is kicking up a fuss among some real estate people.

Just months ago the big money lenders were content to earn interest on their loans. Now, however, they are seeking additional income by sharing in the profits or the increased value of the properties they finance.

Inflation is said to be the cause of the situation, but a lot of real estate dealers are betting that even if economic stability returns the common mortgage on income properties is never again going to be a relatively simple document.

They reason that once the big lenders such as savings banks and insurance companies taste a piece of the action, as several real estate men put it, they won't be satisfied to earn their return on interest alone.

The development is a tacit admission that the fixed dollar return on investments, so long preached by life insurers in selling policies, is inadequate in today's inflated economy.

The situation began developing more than two years ago but seems to have gained momentum in the past six months as interest rates rose and inflation continued at an annual rate of four to five per cent.

If a company lends money on a conventional mortgage of 8.5 per cent for 25 years and does not include a kicker, it faces two dangers:

First, interest rates might continue to rise but the lender would be locked in at lower rates; second, inflation might dilute the return on the investment.

Faced with such instability, life insurers such as John Hancock and Metropolitan reasoned that a hedge was needed and came up with the solution of seeking profits that would float with inflation.

Among the various deals now being transacted are these:

One to even 3 per cent of gross profits from rents.

Ten to 15 per cent of future increases in gross income.

—Actual partial ownership of the building.

A per cent of net income, as much as 20 to 30 per cent of what remains after stipulated expenses such as taxes and maintenance are paid.

There is a growing trend to participation by lenders, although opinions differ as to how widespread the practice is.

"There's more talk than action," says James Latta, senior vice president of Associated Mortgage Cos., Inc., of New York, but he concedes that the practice will spread "as long as the inflation trend continues."

John Wetmore, research director of the Mortgage Bankers Association, feels the practice has mushroomed in recent months. He tells of one case which he terms the triple threat, in which:

The lender obtained a percentage of the gross profits, a percentage of the net income, and the right to purchase the property at a depreciated price at the termination of the loan.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"THE SYMPTOM that bothers me most," a new patient confided to a renowned psychiatrist, "is my increasing distrust of everybody I meet—including even my oldest friends. Can you help me?"

"I believe I can," hazarded the psychiatrist, "but you should know in advance that my fee is one hundred dollars an hour."

"By your watch or mine?" demanded the patient.

Adlai Stevenson, who knew how to tell a good story, broke up a Long Island rally one night by recalling the prudish, tight-lipped old maid who would not even allow her pet cat out of the house after dark. Headed for New York one of her infrequent outings, she paused to remind the maid about locking up that cat each evening.

This time in New York, however, the old maid encountered a handsome old rogue who swept her off her feet. After four nights of blissful romancing she wired her maid, "Having the time of my life. LET THE CAT OUT!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

An understandable health precaution and Board of Health ruling was expressed in a sign in the window of a food supermarket. In big black letters it read "NO DOGS ALLOWED."

This made good sense. Tied outside to a meter station was a typical darling, adorable, sad eyed, lonely, and enchanting "friendly dog." So inviting was he to be petted that in a flash he had bitten deep into the face of a 5-year-old boy who was captivated by his apparent gentleness.

Children simply must be taught that there is no animal that can be safely approached by a stranger without the definite approval and permission of its owner. This should be a fixed rule of safety.

To approach any dog of any size, tied or chained, is to deliberately expose oneself, child or adult to the hazards of a bite. A chained dog is threatened by any movement. Even if the hand is gently extended it is a hazard. An unchained dog may be petted only after he smells your hand and comes to you.

Many permanent scars on the hands and face of children are evidence that tied dogs must be avoided. An added point of safety is for children to know that it is dangerous to take food or a bone away from a dog, even if he is your own. Owners of pets that are tied outside of stores, where a heavy traffic of children is to be expected, are deliberately exposing themselves to law-suits by such carelessness. And remember, too, that all bites by strange or even familiar dogs should be seen and treated to avoid the possibility of infection and rabies, as remote as it may be.

The esophagus which carries food from the mouth into the stomach is remarkably hardy, despite the delicacy of its structure. Normally food passes through it without interruption unless there is some anatomical disorder of the esophagus which makes swallowing difficult. Another anatomical condition is a pouch or diverticulum high in the esophagus which traps food and makes people aware of a sticking sensation in the chest.

I am certain that it comes as a great surprise that varicose veins can and do occur in this area. Veins along the lining of the esophagus can become enlarged because of malfunctions of the liver including cirrhosis.

Tumors of the esophagus occur in this organ as they do everywhere else. The one dominant symptom is interference with normal swallowing. This always must be investigated.

Teddy Starts Campaign

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

In sponsoring the anti-ABM report of Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Professor Abram Chayes of Harvard, Senator Teddy Kennedy is, in practical effect, staking his 1972 Presidential candidacy on the good behavior of the Soviet Union. For if the U.S. decides against deploying any sort of defense system against intercontinental ballistic missiles and Moscow continues to increase its already huge stock of missiles both offensive and defensive, the Republicans would be able to throw a real adverse weapons "gap" in the Senator's face.

In the nature of things, it is a terrible chance that Teddy Kennedy is taking. For everything must click to make him look good. To validate Teddy as a prophet, the Russians will have to dismantle some of their own ABM defenses. And there will have to be a genuine relaxation of tensions around the world.

Is this likely to happen? There could be relaxation in specific theatres. But there has never been a total relaxation in all the years since 1918. An arms reduction treaty with the Soviets that did not include inspection would prove little: as students of Communist behavior have pointed out, the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia in August of 1968 violated seventeen treaties, one of which was less than three weeks old.

The Dr. Wiesner theory, which was brought by former Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, has held that once the Soviets had achieved "parity" with us in the missile race, a relaxation would necessarily follow. But the Soviets, instead of responding to the implied invitation to stop arming when a plateau had been reached, have gone right ahead with their missile program past any actual "parity" point.

The very thorough report of the American Security Council, just issued, is absolutely conclusive on this. In 1966 the Soviets had 250 intercontinental ballistic missiles. Three years later they had 1,250. By 1973, as Secretary of Defense Laird says, they could have 2,500. Even at this point the Soviets have us severely under the gun. For the comparative population densities of Russia and the U.S. mean that two hundred Soviet missiles could take as many American lives as a thousand U.S. missiles could account for in a strike against the far more decentralized

USSR. We have already given a bigger "population hostage" to the Russians than we can afford.

Teddy Kennedy's suggestion that the Wiesner-Chayes anti-ABM report was necessary to counteract the fact that only the Pentagon side of the story had been told is almost laughable. For in calling non-governmental witnesses the Gore subcommittee on International Organization and Disarmament Affairs stacked the deck against the ABM by a 10-to-2 margin. Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut, who in early May had not yet reached a final decision on how to vote on the ABM, asked Gore to hear some able pro-ABM witnesses just to give him some balance for his own information. Accordingly, Dr. Edward Teller, a pro-ABM scientist who persuaded President Truman to go ahead with the hydrogen bomb, is scheduled to be heard today, and Dr. Eugene Wigner, a Nobel Prize winner who teaches nuclear physics at Princeton, will appear before the Senate subcommittee in behalf of the ABM on May 21. Even so, the ratio of anti-ABM to pro-ABM scientists appearing before the Senate will be 12-to-4.

So Teddy Kennedy, Dr. Wiesner, and Professor Chayes seem to be succeeding with their snow job. The mail against the ABM has been heavily organized by institutions that have a pacifist or a "trust-Russia" bias. Senators say they can tell by the formal content of the letters that most of them have been inspired. The Congressional mail on the subject of the campus disruptions, which runs 100-to-1 against Students for a Democratic Society nihilism, is in distinct contrast to the anti-ABM mail in being obviously unmanipulated and undictated.

All of this is not to say that Teddy Kennedy may not win in 1972 as a result of his anti-ABM stand. But if he is to be the winner, the Moscow leopard will have to change its spots. Who will take bets on that?

Ten universities offer the degree of doctor of philosophy in film: Florida State, Indiana, Iowa, Northwestern, Ohio, Ohio State, Pennsylvania, southern California, Texas and Wisconsin.

Added to the 51 schools with film degrees are 168 that include film courses in their curricula. Most of these are studies in history and appreciation of film, but subjects also include screen writing, production, animation, editing and photography.

Hoax Radio Broadcast In Ray Case Still Unsolved

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The prime suspect in a hoax radio broadcast that misled police the night Martin Luther King Jr. was murdered denies he made the broadcast.

"I never did it," he said in an exclusive interview. "I can prove it."

If he can, authorities will have another riddle to untangle before they can say beyond a reasonable doubt that the broadcast was a hoax and that killer James Earl Ray was in no way connected with it.

Ray is serving 99 years. His motion for a new trial will be heard May 26. So far as is known, he has never made any comment about the broadcast.

The spurious call—giving a frantic description of a white Mustang making a high-speed getaway—began about 35 minutes after Dr. King was shot April 4, 1968. It occupied the attention of at least three police squads, turning them toward an area five to six miles east of the shortest, quickest route out of Memphis—the route Ray actually took in a 1966 white Mustang. The suspect now is a college freshman at a school far from his Memphis home. He has been questioned by Memphis police and the FBI. But the Federal Communications Commission—to the surprise of at least one FCC commissioner—never has made any inquiry.

No charges have been placed against the student.

Confronted in the dormitory of his school, he at first refused to discuss police interest in him. He agreed only after an exchange of several long distance telephone calls to his family and a lawyer. He agreed to talk with the understanding he would not be identified.

"Why have police concentrated on you?" he was asked.

"I don't know why. There are other ham radio operators in my area. I don't know why they came to me. I haven't been able to put this out of my mind for a year," he said.

Authorities were able to get a clue as to the probable location of the transmitter because of details provided by two main sources: a 25-year-old steamfitter who was receiving the broadcast in his red Malibu convertible and a TV-repairman who is a ham operator.

There is some conflict in their reports. The steamfitter, in his version, said:

"I had my two-way citizen's band radio on. This is a short distance, low power radio communication. I was monitoring Channel 15. I'm sure I was receiving from a mobile unit because of the way the strength of the signal changed."

The TV man, whose sobriquet on the air is "Lily White," said the messages came from a fixed base station.

Although the student is frightened and worried, he apparently knows radio communication and the problem of anyone now trying to prove when the fake broadcast began. Location of a transmitter can be determined when there is a signal on which two receivers can make a fix. But the false broadcast lasted only 12 minutes and no opportunity existed at the time to make such a fix, nor was there any need to since no one had any reason to doubt it was valid.

"I was at home that night," the student said. "I was never at my rig, which is down in the basement."

The student's home is located in the general area described as the scene of the high-speed chase.

He said he knows two respected, substantial citizens of Memphis who could testify it wasn't his voice.

"These two men heard it all, from beginning to end, and they know my rig and my voice. They could testify it wasn't me. I have never given their names to anyone, not the Memphis police or the FBI."

The false broadcast was picked up by the steamfitter, who asked that his name not be published. He has been questioned by police and the FBI.

"I was eastbound on Jackson Ave. in my convertible. The top was down. I was alone. It had been about 15 minutes since the radio report that King was shot."

Wittenberg Guards Given Other Duties

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Two Wittenberg University security guards who were involved in the fatal shooting of a student last Saturday have been reassigned to new duties, Provost Allan O. Pfister said Tuesday.

The move came after Clark County Prosecutor James A. Berry decided not to press charges against Chester Phillips, 48, the security guard who fired the bullet that killed John C. Lobach, 21, of Bethlehem, Pa.

Meanwhile there was no immediate response from the school's administration committee to the Student Senate's demand that all security officers be disarmed.

The demand was contained in a resolution adopted by the Senate Monday night.

The Senate also sought faculty support, but the faculty at a meeting Tuesday failed to take any action on the recommendation and instead voted to support the administration committee's study of the problem.

Lobach was arrested after he was seen on a second floor ledge of a girls dormitory on campus. Phillips took Lobach to a guard cruiser while a second security officer went inside the dormitory to call superiors.

Lobach jumped from the cruiser and ran. He was shot after failing to heed four calls to halt and a shot in the air.

Columbia Gas Seeks Takeover Of National Gas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., announced Monday acquisition of National Gas and Oil Corp., Newark, pending a favorable tax ruling and approval by stockholders and regulatory agencies.

National serves 10,300 retail customers in Newark and Zanesville. Columbia serves nearly one million retail customers over wide areas of Ohio.

National President A. E. Fitts said stockholders will meet this summer to vote on the transaction.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When Tom and I got married two years ago, he made me tear up all the pictures I had taken with my ex-boyfriends. He also tore up all the pictures of himself and his ex-girlfriends—or so I thought.

We went to visit his mother the other day and as we got ready to leave, Tom drew my attention to a framed picture on the wall. He laughed and said, "Well, look at that!" I didn't see anything funny about it. It was a picture of him and the girl he went with while he was stationed in the army in Germany. He had his arm around her.

I was so shocked and hurt, but I didn't say a word. I've been to the house several times before, and that picture wasn't hanging there. Why all of a sudden now?

My mother-in-law is not a stupid woman, and she surely must have known that this would hurt me. I really can't imagine why she did this. I love her dearly and I always thought she loved me, too.

I haven't said a word, but I've been crying my eyes out. Should I tell my husband how I feel? Or should I tell my mother-in-law?

DEAR ABBY: Are gentlemen becoming an extinct breed in our civilization? I ride the bus to work every day and back, and I have seen MEN sitting with their noses buried in the newspapers while women stand. I mean some pregnant, and elderly women. Once in a while a gentleman will stand and offer a lady his seat, but then you should see the dirty looks HE gets from the men who are sitting. I'd like your opinion.

MIDDLE-AGED LADY
DEAR LADY: No pregnant or elderly woman should stand while men sit. Neither should feeble or handicapped men stand while healthy, able-bodied women sit.

Being female no longer entitles a woman to special treatment in a world where women compete with men for the same job.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with you that each man must decide for himself how much church is "enough." I personally feel that a woman is lucky if her biggest complaint is a husband who wears his knees out in church.

Here's a little verse I've known for years, which says it very well:

"Whenever we pass by a church and about three or four minutes later there was the report on commercial radio that the suspect might be in a white Mustang.

"Then, on my citizen's band unit, I heard someone saying, 'Can someone give me a land line to the police department?'" That's our jargon for a telephone call.

"A base station answered and said he'd be glad to put in a call for the police, what was the message."

"The answer was, 'I am chasing the white Mustang with the man in it that shot King.' Then there was some interference and the base station asked for a repeat and got on three or four times but couldn't read it. I could, I have fine copy all the way."

The steamfitter then saw a police car stopped at a traffic light.

"I pulled up alongside and hollered, 'I have a man on the radio who says he's chasing the white Mustang with the man who shot King.' The cop looked at me funny and the patrolman who was riding shotgun got out and got in with me. We pulled into a parking lot and I turned up the volume so that the other officer could hear it."

The officer, Lt. R. W. Bradshaw, in police car 160, relayed the information coming over the citizen's band radio to the police dispatcher. The dispatcher, in turn, broadcast it over the police network. A recording of this exists. But there is no known recording of the voice of the person making the original broadcast.

At least two police cars, 36 and 42, were put into action in a hunt for the phantom Mustang. At one point, the mysterious broadcast also described gunfire coming from a blue Pontiac whose occupants reportedly were firing at the Mustang. But no one, that night or since, has come forth with any evidence of any real vehicles being at those places. It was a sham, all the way.

The FCC, asked to explain its failure to investigate the alleged hoax, agreed that such a hoax would be a violation but said that in this instance it was decided that the incident already was being investigated by the FBI and local police and there was no necessity for it to become involved. However, one commissioner said while he would not initiate an inquiry he certainly would support a call for one.

Hoax Radio Broadcast In Ray Case Still Unsolved

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Newsfeatures Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The prime suspect in a hoax radio broadcast that misled police the night Martin Luther King Jr. was murdered denies he made the broadcast. "I never did it," he said in an exclusive interview. "I can prove it."

If he can, authorities will have another riddle to untangle before they can say beyond a reasonable doubt that the broadcast was a hoax and that killer James Earl Ray was in no way connected with it.

Ray is serving 99 years. His motion for a new trial will be heard May 26. So far as is known, he has never made any comment about the broadcast.

The scurrious call—giving a frantic description of a white Mustang making a high-speed getaway—began about 25 minutes after Dr. King was shot April 4, 1968. It occupied the attention of at least three police squads, turning them toward an area five to six miles east of the shortest, quickest route out of Memphis—the route Ray actually took in a 1968 white Mustang.

The suspect now is a college freshman at a school far from his Memphis home. He has been questioned by Memphis police and the FBI. But the Federal Communications Commission—to the surprise of at least one FCC commissioner—never has made any inquiry.

No charges have been placed against the student.

Confronted in the dormitory of his school, he at first refused to discuss police interest in him. He agreed only after an exchange of several long distance telephone calls to his family and a lawyer. He agreed to talk with the understanding he would not be identified.

"Why have police concentrated on you?" he was asked.

"I don't know why. There are other ham radio operators in my area. I don't know why they came to me. I haven't been able to put this out of my mind for a year," he said.

Authorities were able to get a clue as to the probable location of the transmitter because of details provided by two main sources: a 25-year-old steamfitter who was receiving the broadcast in his red Malibu convertible and a TV-repairman who is a ham operator.

There is some conflict in their reports. The steamfitter, in his version, said:

"I had my two-way citizen's band radio on. This is a short distance, low power radio communication. I was monitoring Channel 15. I'm sure I was receiving from a mobile unit because of the way the strength of the signal changed."

The TV man, whose sobriquet on the air is "Lily White," said the messages came from a fixed base station.

Although the student is frightened and worried, he apparently knows radio communication and the problem of anyone now trying to prove when the fake broadcast began. Location of a transmitter can be determined when there is a signal on which two receivers can make a fix. But the false broadcast lasted only 12 minutes and no opportunity existed at the time to make such a fix, nor was there any need to since no one had any reason to doubt it was valid.

"I was at home that night," the student said. "I was never at my rig, which is down in the basement."

The student's home is located in the general area described as the scene of the high-speed chase.

He said he knows two respected, substantial citizens of Memphis who could testify it wasn't his voice.

"These two men heard it all, from beginning to end, and they know my rig and my voice. They could testify it wasn't me. I have never given their names to anyone, not the Memphis police or the FBI."

The false broadcast was picked up by the steamfitter, who asked that his name not be published. He has been questioned by police and the FBI.

"I was eastbound on Jackson Ave. in my convertible. The top was down. I was alone. It had been about 15 minutes since the radio report that King was shot.

and about three or four minutes later there was the report on commercial radio that the suspect might be in a white Mustang.

"Then, on my citizen's band unit, I heard someone saying, 'Can someone give me a land line to the police department?'" That's our jargon for a telephone call.

"A base station answered and said he'd be glad to put in a call for the police, what was the message."

"The answer was, 'I am chasing the white Mustang with the man in it that shot King.' Then there was some interference and the base station asked for a repeat and got on three or four times but couldn't read it. I could. I have fine copy all the way."

The steamfitter then saw a police car stopped at a traffic light.

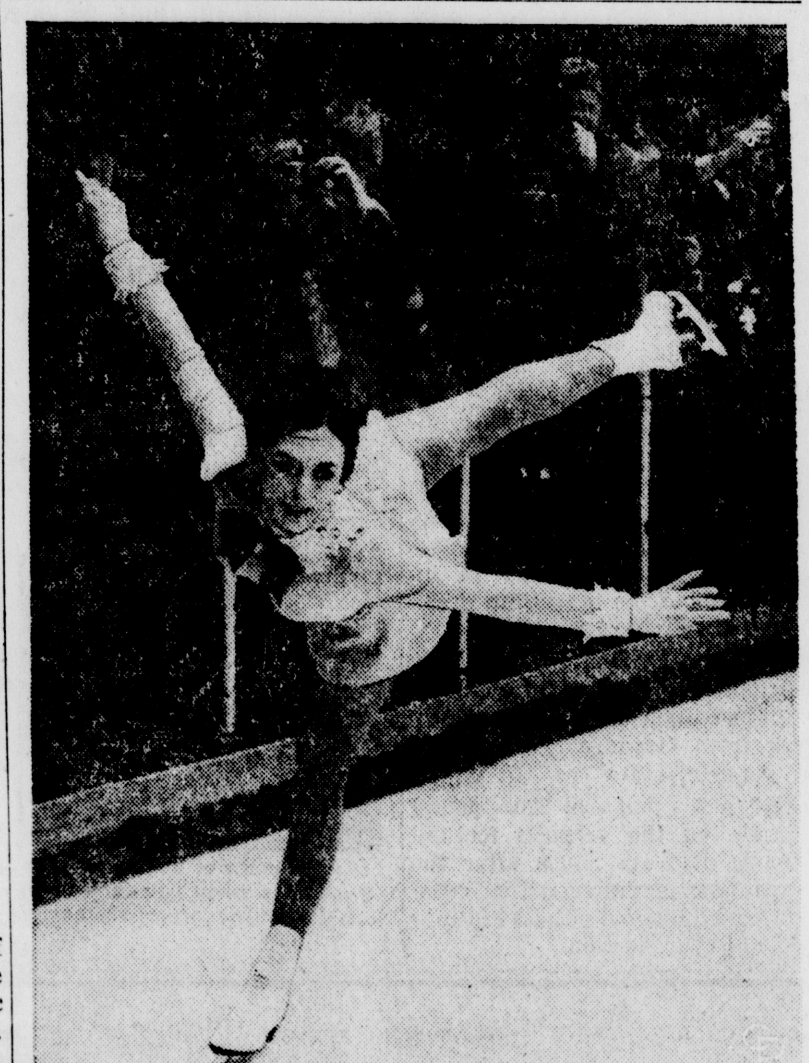

"I pulled up alongside and hollered, 'I have a man on the radio who says he's chasing the white Mustang with the man who shot King.' The cop looked at me funny and the patrolman who was riding shotgun got out and got in with me. We pulled into a parking lot and I turned up the volume so that the other officer could hear it."

The officer, Lt. R. W. Bradshaw, in police car 160, relayed the information coming over the citizen's band radio to the police dispatcher. The dispatcher, in turn, broadcast it over the police network. A recording of this exists. But there is no known recording of the voice of the person making the original broadcast.

At least two police cars, 36 and 42, were out into action in a hunt for the phantom Mustang. At one point, the mysterious broadcast also described gunfire coming from a blue Pontiac whose occupants reportedly were firing at the Mustang. But no one, that night or since, has come forth with any evidence of any real vehicles being at those places. It was a sham, all the way.

The FCC, asked to explain its failure to investigate the alleged hoax, agreed that such a hoax would be a violation but said that in this instance it was decided that the incident already was being investigated by the FBI and local police and there was no necessity for it to become involved. However, one commissioner said while he would not initiate an inquiry he certainly would support a call for one.

Wittenberg Guards Given Other Duties

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Two Wittenberg University security guards who were involved in the fatal shooting of a student last Saturday have been reassigned to new duties, Provost Allan O. Pfister said Tuesday.

The move came after Clark County Prosecutor James A. Berry decided not to press charges against Chester Phillips, 48, the security guard who fired the bullet that killed John C. Lobach, 21, of Bethlehem, Pa.

Meanwhile there was no immediate response from the school's administration committee to the Student Senate's demand that all security officers be disarmed.

The demand was contained in a resolution adopted by the Senate Monday night.

The Senate also sought faculty support, but the faculty at a meeting Tuesday failed to take any action on the recommendation and instead voted to support the administration committee's study of the problem.

Lobach was arrested after he was seen on a second floor ledge of a girls dormitory on campus. Phillips took Lobach to a guard cruiser while a second security officer went inside the dormitory to call superiors.

Lobach jumped from the cruiser and ran. He was shot after failing to heed four calls to halt and a shot in the air.

DEAR ABBY: When Tom and I got married two years ago, he made me tear up all the pictures I had taken with my ex-boyfriends. He also tore up all the pictures of himself and his ex-girlfriends—or so I thought.

We went to visit his mother the other day and as we got ready to leave, Tom drew my attention to a framed picture on the wall. He laughed and said, "Well, look at that!" I didn't see anything funny about it. It was a picture of him and the girl he went with while he was stationed in the army in Germany. He had his arm around her.

I was so shocked and hurt, but I didn't say a word. I've been to the house several times before, and that picture wasn't hanging there. Why all of a sudden now?

My mother-in-law is not a stupid woman, and she surely must have known that this would hurt me. I really can't imagine why she did this. I love her dearly and I always thought she loved me, too.

I haven't said a word, but I've been crying my eyes out. Should I tell my husband how I feel? Or should I tell my mother-in-law?

HURT
DEAR HURT: Since your husband drew your attention to nuclear-powered attack aircraft carrier USS Enterprise with Task Force 71 in the South China Sea.

DEAR ABBY: Are gentlemen becoming an extinct breed in our civilization? I ride the bus to work every day and back, and I have seen MEN sitting with their noses buried in the newspapers while women stand. I mean some pregnant, and elderly women. Once in a while a gentleman will stand and offer a lady his seat, but then you should see the dirty looks HE gets from the men who are sitting. I'd like your opinion.

MIDDLE-AGED LADY
DEAR LADY: No pregnant or elderly woman should stand while men sit. Neither should feeble or handicapped men stand while healthy, able-bodied women sit.

Being female no longer entitles a woman to special treatment in a world where women compete with men for the same job.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with you that each man must decide for himself how much church is "enough." I personally feel that a woman is lucky if her biggest complaint is a husband who wears his knees out in church.

Here's a little verse I've known for years, which says it very well:

"Whenever we pass by a church
Let's stop and pay a visit.
Then when at last we're carried in
Our Lord won't say, 'Who is it?'"

MRS. PAUL KENNETH FOWLER

Good Shepherd United Methodist Church was the setting, Sunday, May 4 for the double-ring marriage ceremony of Miss Joy Elaine Sawyer and Paul Kenneth Fowler.

Rev. Charles Williams, pastor of the Washington C.H. Church of Christ in Christian Union, and Rev. Eugene Flowers, pastor of the church officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Sawyer of 435 Watt St., and the son of Mrs. Dora Fowler of 220 West High St. and the late Chester W. Fowler.

The 2:30 p.m. ceremony was preceded by a half hour presentation of pre-nuptial music presented by Mrs. Glen Smith, violinist, and Miss Lucille Kirkwood, organist. The selections included, "Because," "O Promise Me," "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," "Indian Love Call," "To a Wild Rose," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a A-line floor length gown of white satin accented with white rose appliques, bell sleeves and chapel train. Her elbow length veil of illusion was held by a cluster of appliques centered with a satin flower and she carried a cascade arrangement of white daisies and mums with satin streamers.

Her attendants wore floor-length gowns of dotted swiss over taffeta, each gown in one of three pastel colors of pink, blue and green. They preceded the bride down an aisle marked with satin bows and white snowdrift chrysanthemums. They carried baskets of colored daisies and each girl's hair was accented by a tiara of matching daisies.

Immediately preceding the bride and her father was the ring-bearer who was dressed in a suit of navy blue and carried symbolic rings on a pillow of white satin. Accompanying him down the aisle was the flower girl dressed in a pale blue floor-length dress of dotted swiss over taffeta. She carried a basket of yellow chrysanthemum petals which she spread before the path of the bride.

The ceremony was conducted before an altar decorated with

Youth Graduated High School Last Year, College In June

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Tom Lagos, a Springfield National Merit scholar, was looking forward to graduation from high school a year ago. Now he's looking ahead to June 16 and graduation from Wittenberg University.

The fast-paced program of the 19-year-old student will put him in law school at the University of Michigan where he has been awarded a full-tuition scholarship.

The National Merit Scholarship officials inquired of Wittenberg shortly after Lagos' arrival last autumn why he was being classified as a sophomore when he supposedly was just starting as a National Merit Scholar. Before the correspondence on the matter was cleared, Lagos was a junior.

Here's how he did it.

After finishing his junior year at Springfield's Shawnee High School, Tom signed up for three summer sessions courses at Wright State University. The following year, as a senior at Shawnee, he started commuting to Wittenberg for both day and evening courses, carrying a full load of both high school and college courses.

In the spring of 1968 he became a different kind of high school "dropout" and enrolled at Wittenberg. He completed the one course he needed at Shawnee during this period and by the time his high school diploma was in hand he had earned a total of 15½ course credits at Wittenberg out of 36 required for graduation.

In the summer of 1968 he took three more courses and picked up credit for two more by examination. During the 1968-69 academic year he has taken nine courses at Wittenberg and he's in his final term.

At the same time he's holding down a fulltime job at the K-Sell Co. here as researcher.

"I've heard of acceleration but this is almost too much," one faculty member quipped.

Robert P. Schultz, chairman of Wittenberg's economics department, said "Tom Lagos is probably the best all-around student I have ever worked with in more than 20 years of teaching."

High Street PTA Plans Final Session

The High Street Parent Teacher Association will hold their final meeting of the year 7:30 p.m. Thursday, in the school's multi-purpose room.

There will be an election of officers held and a yearly activity report given.

A check and the attendance banner will be presented to the class with the largest number of parents present.

Medic, Hospital Named In Suit

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A Ravenna couple has filed suit for $800,000 in damages against a Ravenna doctor and Akron Children's Hospital, charging that their baby was blinded through negligence at the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Thompson charge in the suit that their 16-month-old son Joe lost his vision because the oxygen level in an incubator at Akron Children's Hospital was kept too high.

The Thompsons say their son, born two months prematurely, was sent to the hospital on the advice of Dr. Wayne W. Schroyer of Ravenna, who is named as co-defendant in the case.

Licavoli Claims Magazine Trying To 'Dirty Up' Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Reputed racketeer figure "Thomas 'Yonnie' Licavoli" says Lie magazine's recent attack on Gov. James A. Rhodes was an attempt "to dirty that man up."

Licavoli, once linked to the powerful Cosa Nostra, also denied during an exclusive interview with WLW-C Television in the Ohio Penitentiary Monday night that he (Licavoli) still has connections with the underworld.

"I'm just as clean and I think Gov. Rhodes is just as clean as any person could be in regards to these matters," Licavoli said.

Licavoli, who is serving a life sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary for the gangland slayings of four persons in Toledo during the early 1930s, told newsmen that the magazine article was full of lies and rumors.

The article accused Rhodes of manipulating campaign funds for personal use and accused Licavoli of controlling the numbers racket in Ohio from his prison cell.

Licavoli has served 35 years in the Ohio penitentiary. Life criticized Rhodes for commuting Licavoli's sentence from first to second-degree murder, thus making him eligible for parole. The article said the Mafia has organized a $250,000 fund to get Licavoli out of prison and that the racketeer's recent stay in a Columbus hospital because of a heart attack may not have been legitimate.

"I can disprove most of the things they wrote there," Licavoli said. He called the accusations concerning the fund for his release "a lot of rumors, lies and innuendoes."

Youth Graduated High School Last Year, College In June

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Tom Lagos, a Springfield National Merit scholar, was looking forward to graduation from high school a year ago. Now he's looking ahead to June 16 and graduation from Wittenberg University.

The fast-paced program of the 19-year-old student will put him in law school at the University of Michigan where he has been awarded a full-tuition scholarship.

The National Merit Scholarship officials inquired of Wittenberg shortly after Lagos' arrival last autumn why he was being classified as a sophomore when he supposedly was just starting as a National Merit Scholar. Before the correspondence on the matter was cleared, Lagos was a junior.

Here's how he did it. After finishing his junior year at Springfield's Shawnee High School, Tom signed up for three summer sessions courses at Wright State University. The following year, as a senior at Shawnee, he started commuting to Wittenberg for both day and evening courses, carrying a full load of both high school and college courses.

In the spring of 1968 he became a different kind of high school "dropout" and enrolled at Wittenberg. He completed the one course he needed at Shawnee during this period and by the time his high school diploma was in hand he had earned a total of 15½ course credits at Wittenberg out of 36 required for graduation.

In the summer of 1968 he took three more courses and picked up credit for two more by examination. During the 1968-69 academic year he has taken nine courses at Wittenberg and he's in his final term.

At the same time he's holding down a fulltime job at the Kinsell Co. here as researcher. "I've heard of acceleration but this is almost too much," one faculty member quipped.

Robert P. Schultz, chairman of Wittenberg's economics department, said "Tom Lagos is probably the best all-around student I have ever worked with in more than 20 years of teaching."

High Street PTA Plans Final Session

The High Street Parent Teacher Association will hold their final meeting of the year 7:30 p.m. Thursday, in the school's multi-purpose room.

There will be an election of officers held and a yearly activity report given.

A check and the attendance banner will be presented to the class with the largest number of parents present.

Medic, Hospital Named In Suit

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A Ravenna couple has filed suit for $800,000 in damages against a Ravenna doctor and Akron Children's Hospital, charging that their baby was blinded through negligence at the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Thompson charge in the suit that their 16-month-old son Joe lost his vision because the oxygen level in an incubator at Akron Children's Hospital was kept too high.

The Thompsons say their son, born two months prematurely, was sent to the hospital on the advice of Dr. Wayne W. Schroyer of Ravenna, who is named as co-defendant in the case.

Licavoli Claims Magazine Trying To 'Dirty Up' Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Reputed rackets figure "Thomas Yonnie" Licavoli says Lie magazine's recent attack on Gov. James A. Rhodes was an attempt "to dirty that man up."

Licavoli, once linked to the powerful Cosa Nostra, also denied during an exclusive interview with WLWC Television in the Ohio Penitentiary Monday night that he (Licavoli) still has connections with the underworld.

"I'm just as clean and I think Gov. Rhodes is just as clean as any person could be in regards to these matters," Licavoli said.

Licavoli, who is serving a life sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary for the gangland slayings of four persons in Toledo during the early 1930s, told newsmen that the magazine article was full of lies and rumors.

The article accused Rhodes of manipulating campaign funds for personal use and accused Licavoli of controlling the numbers racket in Ohio from his prison cell.

Licavoli has served 35 years in the Ohio penitentiary. Life criticized Rhodes for commuting Licavoli's sentence from first to second degree murder, thus making him eligible for parole. The article said the Mafia has organized a $250,000 fund to get Licavoli out of prison and that the racketeer's recent stay in a Columbus hospital because of a heart attack may not have been legitimate.

"I can disprove most of the things they wrote there," Licavoli said. He called the accusations concerning the fund for his release "a lot of rumors, lies and innuendoes."

"Somebody wants to keep me

Youth Bound Over In Girl's Murder

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Terry Place, 18, Toledo, was bound over to the Lucas County Grand Jury Tuesday on a charge of first-degree murder.

The youth is accused of the May 1 strangulation of Stacy Simpson, a 4-year-old neighbor girl.

in here more than anything else. There's no such fund, there never has been such a fund."

Mandamus Suit Filed By Union

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A mandamus suit filed in 10th District Court of Appeals Tuesday accuses State High Director P. E. Masheter of discriminating against Council 21 of the Joint Organizing Council of Operating Engineers and Laborers Union.

The union seeks to force Masheter to recognize its dues checkoff cards and recognize the union's representation of 2,000 state highway department workers.

The suit notes that state agencies accord such recognition to three other labor organizations.

Social Security Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column of questions and answers is provided by the local Social Security Office and is published here as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked.

Q. I am 25 years old and I believe I now can get disability benefits because the necessary work credits have been reduced for workers disabled while young. I applied for benefits several years ago, but my claim was denied because I didn't have enough credit. What should I do?

A. Apply for benefits at your social security office as soon as possible. The office for this area is located at 60 Central Center in Chillicothe.

A worker who becomes disabled before he is 24 needs credit for 1½ years of work in the 3 years before he becomes disabled. A worker disabled between 24 and 31 needs social security credits for half the time after he is 21 and before he becomes disabled. A worker disabled at 31 or later needs credit for at least 5 years of work in the 10 years just before he becomes disabled.

Q. I will be 62 in 3 months. I do not have a birth certificate, but I have secured some documents showing my age and am attempting to get more. Should I wait until I have all my records before I apply for benefits?

A. No. You should apply now. The people at your social security office will tell you if you have enough evidence of your age. If more is needed, they will help you get the additional evidence.

Q. — I am 50 years old. For the past 2 years I've been receiving disability benefits based on my own work under social security. Since my husband died recently, I'm wondering if I'm eligible for disabled widow's benefits also.

A. You may be. It is possible to be eligible for benefits as a disabled worker and as a disabled widow at the same time. However, you cannot be paid both benefits. You would be paid the higher of the two benefits.

Keep in mind that the social security definition of disability for widows is somewhat different than that for workers. For this reason you may not be able to get benefits as a disabled widow even though you are eligible as a disabled worker.

Get in touch with your social security office for specific information about your case.

Q. I'm 70 years old. I've heard I can make $1,680 a year and still receive all my social security benefits. Does this mean that if I earn $2,000, all my benefits will be withheld?

A. No, you will get some benefits. If you earn $2,000, $160 in benefits will be withheld for the entire year.

You can earn up to $1,680 and still get benefits for all months of the year. If you earn between $1,680 and $2,880, $1 in benefits is withheld for every $2 earned over $1,680. If you earn more than $2,880, then $1 in benefits is withheld for every $1 earned over $2,880. No benefits are withheld no matter how much you earn after you reach 72.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The house of delegates of the Ohio State Medical Association has been asked to urge the Ohio Department of Welfare to pay Medicaid patients' doctor bills in full.

Another resolution to be acted upon urges the state's medical schools establish training programs for physicians' assistants.

The state medical group's week long annual convention began Monday. About 4,000 Ohio physicians are in Columbus for the sessions.

The resolution for 100 per cent payment of doctors' bills for welfare patients was introduced by the Academy of Medicine of Cleveland. Dr. John J. Grady, president of the group, said that doctors now are paid 60 per cent of the usual fee for welfare patients by the state welfare department.

The arrangement works no hardship on most doctors, he said, but places "A tremendous burden on physicians in ghettos and inner cities, and in the poor, rural counties of Southern Ohio."

Because these doctors are paid only 60 per cent of their usual fees for welfare patients, they are forced to carry many more patients than they can adequately treat, Dr. Grady said, or they flee the inner cities — areas where they are badly needed.

Resolutions introduced are to be referred to committees for study, with voting scheduled Thursday night.

The resolution introduced by the Academy of Medicine of Toledo calls for medical schools to "be stimulated and encouraged to establishing training programs" for physicians' assistants.

In one of the scientific sessions, Dr. Marvin R. McClellan, a team physician for Western Hills High School in Cincinnati, reported that a four-year study of high school football injuries has convinced him that the game is getting safer — or at least that players are better able to take the rough play. He said data collected from 1962 through 1965, and said "the game is getting safer, and it's a result of more conditioning in pre-season."

Lawrence A. Golding, director of the applied physiology research laboratory at Kent State University, presented a study which shows that exercise reduces cholesterol in the bloodstream of middle aged men. High cholesterol levels have been implicated in the heart disease.

Order Blaiberg To Cut Activity

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Philip Blaiberg, 59, the world's longest surviving heart transplant recipient, was ordered to bed Tuesday for a week because doctors believe he has exhausted himself.

His wife, Eileen, said she called the doctor in charge of her husband's postoperative care to the apartment early today when Blaiberg appeared short of breath.

"There is nothing wrong with him," she said, adding his confinement was not due to any rejection symptoms in the heart. Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard implanted in his chest at Groote Schuur Hospital Jan. 2, 1963.

Need More Pen Guards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Help Wanted" signs for prison guards were up again at Ohio Penitentiary Tuesday.

As of Tuesday, the guard force was about 20 per cent below the full authorized strength of 360 men. There were only about 290 in uniform.

Deputy Warden Lowell Ride-nour said the drop in guards is a regular spring occurrence. Some men return to construction work in the spring, he said.

Most prison guards still are working 12 hour shifts. Guards' hourly pay rate is $2.50, and with time and a half for overtime the weekly wage is $176.40. Premium overtime pay has been in effect only since early this year.

Currently there are three bills before the legislature to increase salaries of lower paid state workers, including guards. Department of Personnel officials are now engaged in recruiting more guards.

12th Russian General Dies

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Defense Ministry Tuesday announced the death of another general, the 12th in three weeks. He was Lt. Gen. Nikolai Silayev, 58, and the announcement said he died after an "extended illness."

While some diplomats have called the series of deaths "intriguing", most sources discount the possibility that some disaster caused them. Because of their enlargement during World War II, the Soviet armed forces have thousands of high-ranking officers in the upper age brackets, and most westerners believe the series of deaths to be a coincidence.

The announcement of Gen. Silayev's death said he commanded an air force fighter unit in World War II and since 1958 had held a "responsible post" in the headquarters of the anti-aircraft defense command.

Circleville Home and Hospital celebrates its 75th anniversary this month.

It was incorporated as a society in May, 1894, as a non-denominational philanthropic organization managed by an unsalaried board of directors. It has been in continuous operation in the same manner since that time.

The organization came into being through the determined efforts of Mrs. Sarah A. Heffner with loyal and energetic support of Mrs. Annie S. Sears. A need existed — Mrs. Heffner's unaltered, resolute course to satisfy that need resulted in this unique enterprise.

In March, 1894, Mrs. Sarah Heffner proposed to the Circleville Benevolent Society that they ask the Board of Education to donate the Ohio St. school building for a Home and Hospital for this city and county. And if the request was granted, to then proceed and solicit contributions and establish same.

MRS. Heffner was greatly disappointed when the ladies of the society thought it was too great an undertaking and voted against the proposition.

Feeling that the work should be undertaken, Mrs. Sears suggested that another society could be organized for this special purpose.

This encouraging suggestion promoted the undertaking and eventually fostered the incorporation of the Circleville Home and Hospital, chartered by the State of Ohio in April, 1894.

With charter in hand, Mrs. Heffner and Mrs. Sears met with the Board of Education, who granted their request and donated the Ohio Street School building for a Home and Hospital. A deed was presented with the provision that if at any time the building should cease to be used as a Home and Hospital for nine consecutive months, the property should revert back to the Board of Education. The building, no longer in existence, was used for that purpose until 1940.

The Ohio St. school on a site which, according to local history books, commanded a wide sweep of the Scioto Valley and River, was completed in 1871. It was abandoned in 1886 and remained vacant for eight years before it was turned over to the use of Circleville Home and Hospital.

The two and one-half story building was greatly in need of repair and an inadequate size for the two departments of the institution. It was remodeled throughout and an addition built before the institution was formally opened as an organization which combined under one management the two features of a home for aged people and a hospital — the first for Circleville and Pickaway County and a credit to both.

A DESCRIPTION of the facility following a second addition to the building some three or four years later was a hospital department, contained in the two additions. It consisted of six private rooms, one ward with six beds, a well-equipped operating room, a nurse's room and a doctor's room.

The "Home" could accommodate 15 persons, all admitted as members and all had to be 50 years of age or over. The admission fee was graded according to the age of the applicant.

The one exception to the age limit was taken in the case of a young Pickaway County girl, blind since birth and orphaned at the death of her parents. She was admitted to the Home, to which she comfortably adapted, and was cared for by the society for the rest of her life.

Although the facility was managed by the board of directors, it operated solely through contributions of every citizen and all organizations of the city and county. Donations of food, services, materials and money came from churches, fraternal organizations and individual contributions.

The site on which the Home and Hospital was located contained a chicken house where poultry was raised as a source of food along with a garden plot where fruits and vegetables were planted, harvested and canned for use at the "Home."

In season, wild game was plentiful in the kitchens through the efforts of the county game warden. Also, in season, the kitchen larder overflowed with substantial products of butchering, generous gifts from individuals.

THROUGHOUT the county, churches set aside one Sunday of each month when offerings at the Sunday service were turned over to the Circleville Home and Hospital board for use by the institution.

Board members themselves worked unceasing in projects to help support the institution. A Home and Hospital Fair was held annually in October in the county commissioners room in the court house, where donations from friends throughout the city and county were received. Meals were also served. For the members of the board, this was the grand event of the year.

Members of the board of directors were also credited with having established the first food booth at the annual Circleville Pumpkin Show.

The hospital facility handled emergencies, surgery, gave post-operative care, tended the sick and sobered inebriates.

It continued to function until Berger Hospital was established. The operating room was then altered and became an additional resident room.

The passing of years wrought many changes for the board managers. Government gratuities for residents of the Home, gratefully-received legacies and unceasing assistance of the community eased the financial burden so that in 1905 the board of directors were able to announce the institution free of debt.

TERMS of admission to the Home were changed. Fifty was no longer considered aged, thus the age limit was raised. A set fee was established for residents with an alteration made for those living outside the county. The cost was based on whether the Home was to pay burial expenses.

Residents were boarders, temporary residents and life members who 'bought a home.' At this time in its relatively short history, Circleville Home and Hospital had established a fine reputation throughout the country. Persons from as far away as Texas wrote requesting admission to the Home.

The Home remained at the Ohio Street address until 1940. It had become a continual and expensive task to maintain the 69-year-old structure. Surplus furniture and equipment was sold. The building was abandoned and the Home and Hospital moved to leased quarters at 401 E. Main St.

With the hospital no longer a part of the organization, the question of changing the name was discussed and the name "The Circleville Home" was chosen. After finding it would cost $25 to change the name, it was decided to keep the name "Home and Hospital."

A second operation, a convalescent home, was started at 203 S. Scioto St. by the Circleville Home board of directors. After some remodeling and equipping, both men and women patients were admitted in January, 1946.

THE present home, a former residence, was purchased by the Board of Directors and adapted to use for the Circleville Home and Hospital. The building was remodeled and an addition made before patients were moved in November, 1950.

An adjoining lot at the corner of Mound and Pickaway Sts., was later purchased, the existing building razed and a second addition to the Home was made in 1960.

The present well-staffed Home houses 32 persons, both men and women. Some are ambulatory residents, others are extended care patients. There is a waiting list for admissions. No terminal cancer, mental or tuberculosis patients are accepted. It is non-sectarian.

The institution is a member of Ohio Philanthropic Nursing Home Association and is the only Home in the state supported solely by a philanthropic group having no church, lodge or other affiliation.

It is subject to all State and Federal regulations, is licensed by the state and governed by State Health Laws.

No longer are projects planned to benefit the society. Operating funds are realized solely through admission fees of residents, which are graded according to the accommodation — private, semi-private or three-person room. The fees are paid monthly and are adjusted to the current economy level.

ANY physical alterations in the institution are made possible by a few perennial benefactors. Most are local. One, although not a native of the county, has shown continued interest in the Home after having had two family members as patients in the institution.

All officers and members of the board give their services without compensation and pay annual dues to serve as a board member.

Present active board members are Mrs. J. Boyd Stout, president; Mrs. Walter Yamarick, vice president; Mrs. Michael Harrison, recording secretary; Mrs. Leland Pontius, corresponding secretary; Mrs. B. J. Harden, treasurer; Mrs. Karl Seyfarth, finance chair-

Southern University Riot Erupts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 600 National Guardsmen stood by near the Baton Rouge, La., campus of Southern University, where relative calm followed a riot by 1,000 students.

In Memphis, Tenn., a grand jury indicted 109 students at Memphis State University for a sit-in last month. A Brooklyn grand jury indicted 20 persons on arson, riot and conspiracy charges stemming from Brooklyn College disorders, while a grand jury in Ithaca, N.Y., indicted 21 persons after investigating the armed takeover of a Cornell University building last month by black militants.

Louisiana Gov. John J. McKeithen planned to meet today with a student committee, hoping to prevent a recurrence of the Tuesday clash between students hurling firebombs, rocks and bottles and police, who fired tear gas from shotguns.

Two students underwent surgery for removal of tear gas pellets. Thirteen other students and two sheriff's deputies were injured after students burned a construction truck on campus. Police arrested three students for aggravated battery and 14 for criminal mischief.

McKeithen called up the Guard after the clash. They were stationed overnight three miles off campus. The governor said they would enter the campus "at the first indication of further breakdown of law and order."

There are about 8,000 students, almost all Negro, on the Baton Rouge campus. The school also has a branch in New Orleans. Both campuses have experienced turmoil in recent weeks, as students call for improved conditions without voicing specific demands.

In Memphis, the Shelby County grand jury returned indictments against 103 black students and six white students who sat-in the president's office April 28 to demand recruitment of a black dean, black instructors and black athletes. They could be fined $1,000 each and jailed for 11 months, 29 days.

Memphis State has about 15,000 students.

A Brooklyn grand jury indicted 19 students, including three women, and another youth—all black or Puerto Rican—on 23 counts of arson, riot, criminal mischief and conspiracy. They each face a maximum of 228 years in jail.

Police arrested 17 persons at their homes and were seeking the other three. Dist. Atty. Eugene Gold said officers found flammable materials, plans to bomb faculty homes and radical literature, including "Quotations from Mao Tse-tung" and Black Panther Party pamphlets.

Students Carry American Flag 180 Miles To School

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Bearing an American flag, 30 seniors of Owensboro Catholic High School have completed an 180-mile relay jog as a protest against campus protesters.

The youths, tired but happy, finished their 22-hour journey from the state capitol at Frankfort Monday.

"We had a job to do that was more or less patriotism," said Mike Mills, one of the joggers. "If we failed, then the whole school had failed. We did the job."

Tom St. Maxens, the student government president, who conceived the idea for the patriotic run, commented "The stiffness is just beginning to settle in on everybody."

Earlier the mood was one of jubilation, as a 100-car entourage led the group into Owensboro.

"It seemed everybody in town had turned out to welcome us," said one runner.

Senior Class President Bernie Ballard carried the flag the last leg. "The closer I got to the high school, the faster I wanted to go," said Ballard.

At the end of the journey, St. Maxens ran the flag up the pole in front of the school while a crowd of 200 joined in reciting the Pledge of Allegiance and singing the national anthem.

The relay started Sunday afternoon with the first runner, Phil Carriero, carrying the flag which had been flown over both the nation's capitol at Washington and the state capitol.

The boys traveled in groups of six, jogging all night through intermittent, chilling rain.

While some ran, others found time to nap in cars, a house under construction and even in a jail. Grayson County Jailor Franklin Stanton treated the boys who slept in his cells to breakfast.

Six autos manned by friends and relatives followed the boys as they made their way along Kentucky's hilly back roads.

As the sun came up, people began to appear along the roadside to cheer the students home.

"We might have been tired, but when we saw all the people to meet us, we were rejuvenated," said Carl Greenwell.

Ex-Airman Is Honored At Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A former Air Force sergeant who was credited with making 51 combat saves during 29 months of pararescue duty in Vietnam was honored Tuesday night at the Aviation-Space Writers Association's 31st annual meeting.

Steve M. Northern, 22, of Hermosa Beach, Calif., was presented the 1969 Avco-AWA Helicopter Heroism Award for the outstanding combat feats.

And the writers coupled the presentation with a surprise for Northern, who also received a second oak leaf cluster to the Silver Star for rescuing a Marine major under enemy fire in Vietnam.

Introduced from the floor was Maj. Curtis Lawson, the man Northern saved.

Earlier Tuesday, a former chief of the Federal Aviation Administration told the meeting that air transportation in this country is in a crisis that only can be solved by modernization and expansion of the airways system and airports.

Retired Air Force Gen. William F. McKee said the commercial airlines and general aviation have grown so fast that the airports no longer can efficiently service them under of aircraft in the skies.

Award Widow $45 An Inch For Crossbar

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A judge has awarded a widow $45 an inch for six inches of a wooden light pole crossbar that overhangs her property line.

The Duquesne Light co. built the pole assembly 19 months ago and the crossbar extended 10 inches over the property, Mrs. Frances Schlereth of suburban Munhall said Monday.

In January Duquesne workers sawed off four inches, but the remaining piece still "ruined my view," Mrs. Schlereth said. Judge Arthur Wessel Jr. awarded the widow $270 and ordered Duquesne to remove the remaining six inches of the crossbar.

Sex Education Controversy Still Boiling

Editor's Note—This is the first of two articles on the fight over sex education.

By JERRY BUCK

Associated Press Writer

After five years of attracting little attention, sex education courses in public schools have come under attack in at least 27 states within the past year.

The intensity of the campaign against sex education has increased in recent months, primarily because some conservative organizations have joined wholeheartedly in the controversy.

The struggle between the opposing factions is turning into a bitter, emotional wrangle that has leaped from the local school board to state legislatures to Congress.

Some opponents see sex education in a conspiratorial light: pornographic, Communist-serving and breaking down the morals of American youth.

Others see it as an intrusion into an area they feel should be left to the parents and view it as one more manifestation of the permissive society.

"There's no question that opposition to sex education is linked to public anxiety over the flood of sex in the movies, books, advertisements and mass media," said Gerald Sanctuary, international director of the Sex Information and Education Council of the U.S. SIECUS, as it is called, is a principal target of the opponents.

Legislators in Arizona, California, Idaho, Iowa, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Washington have considered measures to prohibit, control or investigate sex education.

A bill introduced in Congress would withhold federal funds from sex education courses or related teacher training.

The addition of the John Birch Society to the campaign brought a new element to a struggle already emotionally charged and packed with an almost religious fervor. The Birch Society, through its Movement to Restore Decency—Motorede—, added the suggestion of a Communist plot.

Although latecomers, the Birch Society waded enthusiastically into the battle and claims major credit for keeping the issue boiling.

"I'd be willing to bet you'll find a member of the society active in every state where there's opposition to sex education," said Wallis W. Wood, coordinator for ad hoc committees of the society.

In state after state for the past five years, educators, with the backing of the National Education Association, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, American Medical Association and others, had been introducing courses in sex and family life. Then, about a year ago, opposition developed.

Schools where sex education had been a part of the curriculum for years found themselves under attack for the first time. No one is quite certain why opposition developed after seeming acceptance of sex education in many schools, but Wood of the Birch Society said, "It's only been recently that parents actually found out what is being taught. I doubt that one parent in a thousand had heard about sex education a year ago. Now they've heard about it and they don't like what they hear."

A sex education program can be as innocuous as a course in hygiene, drawing little or no disapproval. Or it can delve into such sensitive areas as human reproduction, premarital sex, venereal disease, homosexuality and family planning.

Other touchy areas are teaching sex education in the elementary grades, coeducational classes and not seeking parental consent.

Grassroots organizations have sprung up to combat sex education in many schools, but Wood of the Birch Society said, "It's only been recently that parents actually found out what is being taught. A sex education program can be as innocuous as a course in hygiene, drawing little or no disapproval. Or it can delve into such sensitive areas as human reproduction, premarital sex, venereal disease, homosexuality and family planning.

Other touchy areas are teaching sex education in the elementary grades, coeducational classes and not seeking parental consent.

Grassroots organizations have sprung up to combat sex education in many schools, but Wood of the Birch Society said, "It's only been recently that parents actually found out what is being taught. Best Air Race Loser Is Named

LONDON (AP) — William Guinther, a one-legged American solo flier, was named winner Tuesday of one of the most coveted awards in the transatlantic air race.

He gets the $12,000 given by Ziff-Davis, the U.S. publishers, for the most meritorious American entry who didn't win. The prize is only $2,400 less than the two awards for the fastest Atlantic crossings.

Guinther, who comes from Kutztown, Pa., is expected back in London with his wife in time to join other winners at a reception Wednesday. They will be congratulated by Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II.

Women Don't Want Equal Work Load

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Women who work in Ohio's plants do not want equal rights with men.

They made that clear Tuesday as the Senate Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee held another hearing on a bill that would lift many restrictions on women workers.

The bill, backed by the Ohio Manufacturers' Association, was introduced in the Senate by Stanley J. Aronoff, R-Cincinnati.

The bill, among other things, would permit women to work a 56-hour week and lift objects they now are restricted from handling. Opponents contend it also would permit employers to do away with other advantages the woman worker now enjoys such as separate dressing rooms and private toilets.

Proponents contend many women need the extra hours in a work week to make a living.

Vernell Smith of Cleveland, business agent for the Garment Workers, said the bill would eliminate the provision in present law that requires a different type of chair for women on an assembly line. "Women need a reclining type chair," Mrs. Smith said, "and I notice the senators in this room need one too."

The committee referred the proposal to a subcommittee.

Patrolman Saves Lives Of Couple

ST. MARYS, Ohio (AP) — A six-month veteran of the St. Marys police force, Patrolman Ronnie Keiber, 21, is credited with saving the lives of a St. Marys couple early Tuesday.

A station wagon was driven by Louis C. Haeseker, 47, went out of control on Ohio 364 at the east edge of Grand Lake St. Mary, struck a utility pole, overturned a burst into flames, trapping Haeseker and his wife, Nina, 53, inside.

Keiber pulled the couple out just before they became engulfed, officials said. Haeseker was in fair condition in a St. Marys hospital late this morning. His wife was listed as critical at St. Rita hospital in Lima with third degree burns and lacerations.

Sex Education Controversy Still Boiling

Editor's Note—This is the first of two articles on the fight over sex education.

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
After five years of attracting little attention, sex education courses in public schools have come under attack in at least 27 states within the past year. The intensity of the campaign against sex education has increased in recent months, primarily because some conservative organizations have joined wholeheartedly in the controversy.

The struggle between the opposing factions is turning into a bitter, emotional wrangle that has leaped from the local school board to state legislatures to Congress.

Some opponents see sex education in a conspiratorial light: pornographic, Communist-serving and breaking down the morals of American youth.

Others see it as an intrusion into an area they feel should be left to the parents and view it as one more manifestation of the permissive society.

"There's no question that opposition to sex education is linked to public anxiety over the flood of sex in the movies, books, advertisements and mass media," said Gerald Sanctuary, international director of the Sex Information and Education Council of the U.S. SIECUS, as it is called, is a principal target of the opponents.

Legislators in Arizona, California, Idaho, Iowa, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Washington have considered measures to prohibit, control or investigate sex education.

A bill introduced in Congress would withhold federal funds from sex education courses or related teacher training.

The addition of the John Birch Society to the campaign brought a new element to a struggle already emotionally charged and packed with an almost religious fervor. The Birch Society, through its Movement to Restore Decency—Motorede—, added the suggestion of a Communist plot.

Although latecomers, the Birch Society waded enthusiastically into the battle and claims major credit for keeping the issue boiling.

"I'd be willing to bet you'll find a member of the society active in every state where there's opposition to sex education," said Wallis W. Wood, coordinator for ad hoc committees of the society.

In state after state for the past five years, educators, with the backing of the National Education Association, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, American Medical Association and others, had been introducing courses in sex and family life. Then, about a year ago, opposition developed.

Schools where sex education had been a part of the curriculum for years found themselves under attack for the first time. No one is quite certain why opposition developed after seeming acceptance of sex education in many schools, but Wood of the Birch Society said, "It's only been recently that parents actually found out what is being taught. I doubt that one parent in a thousand had heard about sex education a year ago. Now they've heard about it and they don't like what they hear."

A sex education program can be as innocuous as a course in hygiene, drawing little or no disapproval. Or it can delve into such sensitive areas as human reproduction, premarital sex, venereal disease, homosexuality and family planning.

Other touchy areas are teaching sex education in the elementary grades, coeducational classes and not seeking parental consent.

Grassroots organizations have sprung up to combat sex education: MOMS, Mothers Organization for Moral Stability in Scottsdale, Ariz.; PURE, Parents United for Responsible Education in Torrance, Calif.; POSE, Parents Opposed to Sex Education in Hopkins, Minn.; and SOS, Sanity on Sex in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Tiger Track Unit Ends Busy Season

The Circleville High School track team ended its season Tuesday, losing to Groveport, 72½ - 54½.

The Tigers won seven events outright and tied for first in the mile relay, but couldn't match the hosts in depth.

Jack Boyer won the shot with a heave of 42 feet 10 inches. Bill Keener was first in the high jump, clearing five feet six inches.

Mel Smith paced a 10:32.5 two mile to win. Dick Walters was first in both the hurdle events, winning the highs in 15.85 and the lows in 22.0.

PHIL Pike won both the mile in 4:48.7, and the 800, in 2:13.4. Bill McGowan had an injured leg and was unable to compete in both events.

Circleville had four seconds compared to 11 for Groveport. Johnson of Groveport won the broad jump and all three dashes.

"We weren't really up for this meet," Coach Jim Lint commented. "I guess it was kind of anti-climatic."

This has been one of the busiest seasons for Circleville track squad.

They competed in five invitational, winning one of them. The Tigers were third in the South Central Ohio League meet.

Gurney Eagles Are Watched At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — No entries for the 53rd 500-mile auto race May 30 are being watched more closely in practice than the four new Eagles built by driver-engineer Dan Gurney.

After all the publicity for Lotus turbine cars last year, the race ended with Gurney Eagles in three of the first four places.

Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., won with an Eagle powered with a turbocharged Offenhauser engine.

Gurney himself was runnerup in an Eagle with a modified Ford stock block engine.

Denis Hulme, New Zealander who was 1967 world champion and No. 3 internationally last year, took fourth place for the second straight year, driving an Eagle with a nonsupercharged Ford racing engine.

That kind of a performance with three different engines made the Gurney chassis look pretty superior.

Carroll Shelby, another noted race driver and designer, and Gurney formed All American Racers of Santa Ana, Calif., in 1966. Gurney since has become sole proprietor of the business.

All American Racers built four new Indianapolis cars for this year and there may be seven or eight older Eagles in the field.

Two new Eagles will be driven by Gurney and Hulme as a team, with one in reserve. The fourth was sold to Smokey Yunknick of Daytona Beach, Fla., a noted stock car racing expert, who has Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., in the cockpit.

Leonard was leading last year's 500 in an STP Lotus-Turbine with only 9 laps to go when a fuel pump shaft broke.

He has made a quick adaptation to the new Eagle and got it up to a respectable 164.634 miles per hour in the first week of practice. He holds the track qualifying record of 171.559 in the turbine, now outlawed by new engine restrictions.

Phillies Lose To Cincinnati

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Manager Bob Skinner of the Philadelphia Phillies is getting a little desperate. Now he's making starters out of relief pitchers. It almost worked Tuesday night against the Cincinnati Reds.

Skinner used Gary Wagner as a starter, Wagner went four innings before leaving with a "twinge" in his pitching shoulder with none out and two Reds on base in the fifth. The score was 1-1.

The Phillies went on to lose 6-4 as Dick Farrell failed in relief. Leading 4-3 in the eighth, Farrell got two outs and had two strikes on Lee May after walking Tony Perez. May ripped the next pitch for his sixth homer of the season to send the Reds ahead to stay.

The Wagner experiment was interesting. It was the second start for the 27-year-old right-hander in his three years of major league pitching. He last started June 1, 1966, against the Chicago Cubs. The Phillies lost but Wagner wasn't the pitcher of record.

Last year at San Diego in the Pacific Coast League, Wagner pitched nine complete games while winning 12 and losing 4.

Stoutsville Forms Girls Softball Teams

The village of Stoutsville has formed two girls softball teams in conjunction with its little league program.

Virginia Marshall is in charge of scheduling games for the teams. Her telephone number is 474-7996.

One team is composed of girls from the second grade through the fourth grade, while the other is made up of girls from the fifth through the eighth.

Chicago Clobbers Poor San Diego, 19-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pitchers, backed into a corner by baseball's rules makers, are making their last stand in Chicago's Wrigley Field, where the hitters have opened their latest front.

And Manager Leo Durocher is enjoying every minute of the battle.

Durocher's Cubs ran wild for 19 runs Tuesday and Dick Selma kept things respectable for the pitchers with a three-hit, 10-

strikeout performance that gave Chicago its third straight shut-out.

The 19-0 Cubs' romp over San Diego was obviously on Larry Shepard's mind as the Pittsburgh manager watched his club score eight runs and come out on the short end as San Francisco scored 11.

"Well, they're getting what they wanted," said Shepard of the rulesmakers, who lowered the mound and narrowed the strike zone to put more punch back in the game. "Look at the Chicago game today."

Shepard was better off looking at that one and not the one the Pirates played.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, Houston rattled Montreal 10-3, Cincinnati dropped Philadelphia 6-4 and Atlanta edged New York 4-3. Los Angeles at St. Louis was rained out.

Ernie Banks played only six innings for the Cubs against the Padres but did enough damage for a full nine. The 38-year-old slugger walloped a pair of three-run homers and drove in a seventh run with a double.

"It was Senior Citizen's day," kidded Banks, "and I had to give my people something to cheer about."

Nate Oliver and Don Young also homered and Billy Williams contributed a pair of triples to the 15-hit Cub attack. Selma's shutout followed blankings by Ken Holtzman and Ferguson Jenkins and the combination of heavy hitting and airtight pitching has opened a four-game lead for Chicago in the East Division.

Bobby Bonds and Dick Dietz each contributed two-run singles in San Francisco's big inning. Ken Henderson's leadoff homer and run-scoring singles by Willie Mays and Willie McCovey also did their share of the damage as Shepard suffered in the Pittsburgh dugout and dreamed of the good, old 1-0 and 2-1 ball games of last year.

Jack Billingham, shuffled off to Houston in the aftermath of the controversial Donn Clendenon-Rusty Staub trade, came back to haunt Montreal with five innings of two-hit relief as the Astros rapped the Expos.

It was the kind of pitching job the Expos could have used as six Montreal pitchers issued nine walks to make things easy for Houston.

"It's brutal to play like that," moaned Manager Gene Mauch of the Expos. "It's too good a game to play it like that."

Lee May's two-run homer in the eighth inning wiped out a Philadelphia lead and moved Cincinnati to its victory over the Phillies. Tony Perez drove in three runs for the Reds, two of them on a homer.

Johnny Callison had a two-run homer for Philadelphia as the Phils took the lead with a three-run seventh inning rally.

Atlanta got all its runs on homers by Hank Aaron, Orlando Cepeda and Bob Tilton and hung on to whip the Mets. Tilton's two-run shot proved to be the winning blow.

LEHS Surprises Mustangs, 6-4, In League Tilt

Logan Elm surprised Westfall, 6-4, Tuesday in a Scioto Valley Conference game played on the Braves' diamond.

It was the first league loss for the Mustangs and the second of the season. They have a 13-2 overall record this season.

The Braves are 3-5 in the SVC and 6-7 overall. All of Logan Elm's runs came in the second inning with two outs.

With one out, Dave Reichelderfer singled. He advanced on a single by Steve Curtis and then the next batter was out on a fly.

THEN K. C. Jones singled, scoring Reichelderfer for Logan Elm's first run. An error advanced Curtiss and Jones and then Steve Swank drove in Curtiss with a single.

Danny Fausnaugh blasted a long double to center field, scoring all three base runners. Fausnaugh then scored on an error to wrap up the scoring in the game for the winners.

LE had baserunners after that, but never seriously threatened.

Westfall's first runs came in the sixth. Rick Maurer led off with a single. Greg Bigam singled and Gene Carfrey walked to load the bases. Jack Moore's single scored Maurer and Bigam scored on a fielder's choice.

In the seventh, Rick Whaley singled. Maurer singled, and two consecutive errors scored Whaley while Maurer was able to cross the plate on a fielder's choice.

Danny Fausnaugh was the winning pitcher. He walked two, fanned nine and allowed six hits.

BILL Blair was the loser. He whiffed seven, walked one and was touched for seven hits.

Fausnaugh's second inning double proved to be the winning blow of the ball game and was also the longest hit.

The Braves play at Paint Valley Thursday in SVC action.

Tribe Wins Over Royals In Squeaker

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Cleveland Indians won another game — their fifth — Tuesday night, and Manager Alvin Dark is grateful.

But the Tribe manager said somewhat plaintively he wished "sometime we could win a game without it coming down to the last out."

"We've won five games, and they've all come down to the last out."

The Indians had an 8-5 lead going into the ninth inning against the Kansas City Royals. Max Alvis threw out Bob Taylor for the first out, and Rich Scheinblum made a fine catch of Chuck Harrison's long fly.

Then Stan Williams got in trouble, issuing a base on balls to Bob Oliver. Ed Kirkpatrick slammed a double to right, scoring Oliver, and Pat Kelly came in to hit for pitcher Steve Jones.

At that point Dark replaced Williams with Juan Pizarro, and Kelly flied to Jose Cardenal, ending the game.

Final score: 8-6. It was a big night for Tony Horton with two home runs and four RBI.

Tiger Track Unit Ends Busy Season

The Circleville High School track team ended its season Tuesday, losing to Groveport, 72½ - 54½.

The Tigers won seven events outright and tied for first in the mile relay, but couldn't match the hosts in depth.

Jack Boyer won the shot with a heave of 42 feet 10 inches. Bill Keener was first in the high jump, clearing five feet six inches.

Mel Smith paced a 10:32.5 two mile to win. Dick Walters was first in both the hurdle events, winning the highs in 15.85 and the lows in 22.0.

PHIL Pike won both the mile, in 4:48.7, and the 880, in 2:13.4. Bill McGowan had an injured leg and was unable to compete in both events.

Weatherspoon Slips Through OSU's Grasp

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Talented Nick Weatherspoon has slipped through the grasp of Ohio State and into the den of the University of Illinois.

One of the most publicized basketball stars since Jerry Lucas of Middletown, the Canton McKinley prep ace stunned Buckeye followers Tuesday by picking Illinois from the more than 300 colleges who extended offers.

Only eight days ago, heralded Luke Witte, the 7-foot star from Marlinton High School, announced he had accepted a grant-in-aid from Ohio State.

Weatherspoon and Witte, both all-Ohio performers and good buddies, reportedly had agreed to attend the same school.

"I gave considerable thought to attending the same school as Witte," Weatherspoon told a news conference. "We're good friends and I talked to Luke about it. It would be nice to be a teammate of his but it just didn't work out that way."

He confided that State was his second choice with Louisville third.

The 6-7 Weatherspoon, The AP Player of the Year, averaged more than 25 points and 1 rebounds a game and almost led McKinley to the state title. Columbus East whipped the Bulldogs in the championship game.

"I feel I made the right decision. Everything about Illinois impressed me, but mainly it was the general atmosphere. I felt right at home at Illinois."

Gurney Eagles Are Watched At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — No entries for the 53rd 500-mile auto race May 30 are being watched more closely in practice than the four new Eagles built by driver-engineer Dan Gurney.

After all the publicity for Lotus turbine cars last year, the race ended with Gurney Eagles in three of the first four places.

Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., won with an Eagle powered with a turbocharged Offenhauser engine.

Gurney himself was runnerup in an Eagle with a modified Ford stock block engine.

Denis Hulme, New Zealander who was 1967 world champion and No. 3 internationally last year, took fourth place for the second straight year, driving an Eagle with a nonsupercharged Ford racing engine.

That kind of a performance with three different engines made the Gurney chassis look pretty superior.

Carroll Shelby, another noted race driver and designer, and Gurney formed All American Racers of Santa Ana, Calif., in 1966. Gurney since has become sole proprietor of the business.

All American Racers built four new Indianapolis cars for this year and there may be seven or eight older Eagles in the field.

Two new Eagles will be driven by Gurney and Hulme as a team, with one in reserve. The fourth was sold to Smokey Yunk of Daytona Beach, Fla., a noted stock car racing expert, who has Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., in the cockpit.

Leonard was leading last year's 500 in an STP Lotus-Turbine with only 9 laps to go when a fuel pump shaft broke.

He has made a quick adaptation to the new Eagle and got it up to a respectable 164.654 miles per hour in the first week of practice. He holds the track qualifying record of 171.559 in the turbine, now outlawed by new engine restrictions.

This has been one of the busiest seasons for Circleville track squad.

They competed in five invitational, winning one of them. The Tigers were third in the South Central Ohio League meet.

Chicago Clobbers Poor San Diego, 19-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pitchers, backed into a corner by baseball's rules makers, are making their last stand in Chicago's Wrigley Field, where the hitters have opened their latest front.

And Manager Leo Durocher is enjoying every minute of the battle.

Durocher's Cubs ran wild for 19 runs Tuesday and Dick Selma kept things respectable for the pitchers with a three-hit, 10-

strikeout performance that gave Chicago its third straight shut-out.

The 19-0 Cubs' romp over San Diego was obviously on Larry Shepard's mind as the Pittsburgh manager watched his club score eight runs and come out on the short end as San Francisco scored 11.

er in the eighth inning led the Minnesota Twins to a 4-2 comeback victory over Baltimore Tuesday night in a rhubarb-filled meeting of American League division leaders.

Northrup's two-run homer in the seventh, following a long rain delay, carried the Detroit Tigers from behind to a 3-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Elsewhere, Oakland nipped Boston 5-4 in a duel between the AL's hottest clubs; Seattle downed the skidding New York Yankees 5-3; Washington edged California 2-1 in 10 innings and Cleveland outscored Kansas City 6-1.

Carew, the AL's top hitter, erased a 2-1 Baltimore lead by drilling a liner to the right center field fence and following teammate Cesar Tovaraross the plate with a fadeaway slide that barely eluded catcher Elrod Hendricks, who insisted he had made the tag.

Moments earlier, Orioles Manager Earl Weaver was ejected in a heated dispute over a balk called against losing pitcher Mike Cuellar following Tovar's leadoff single.

The Twins added another run before the inning was over and held on for their 11th victory in the last 13 games and a narrow edge over second place Oakland in the West. Winner Dave Boswell struck out 13, but needed ninth inning help from Ron Peranowski.

Baltimore, which remained one game up on Boston in the East, had taken a 2-1 lead in the top of the eighth when Frank Robinson knocked the ball out of Boswell's glove in a play at the plate that brought Twins Manager Billy Martin out of the dugout in a rage.

The White Sox led Detroit 1-0 when rain held up the game for 63 minutes after a leadoff single by Norm Cash in the seventh. When play was resumed, Joe Horlen, who had allowed just three hits, was replaced by Bob Locker.

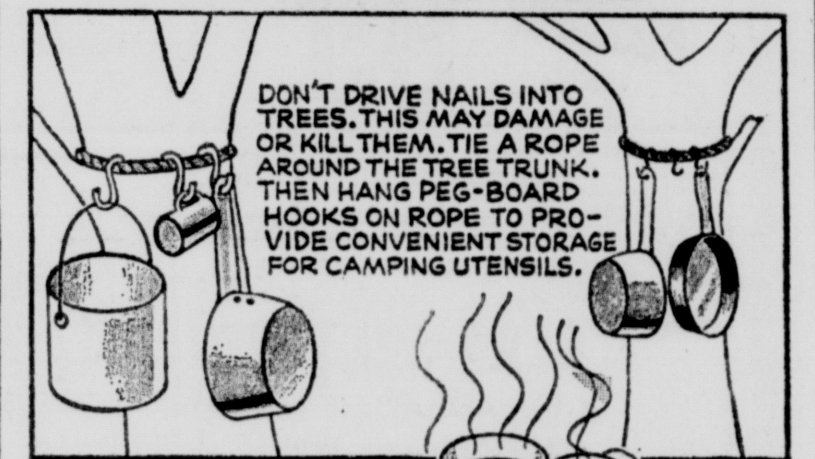

Locker struck out Willie Horton, but Northrup crashed a two-run homer off the upper deck facade in right, sending the Tigers and left-hander Mickey Lolich past the Sox, who had won four straight from East Division clubs.

Oakland slipped past the Red Sox on Rick Monday's tie-breaking rick single in the eighth, extending its winning streak to five games and snapping Boston's victory string at eight.

Casper, Player Favored In Colonial Tournament

PORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Defending champion Billy Casper and red-hot little Gary Player ruled the favorites today for the top prize in the prestigious $125,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

Player proved his right to the top spot in the star-studded field Tuesday when he whipped over the reconstructed Colonial Country Club course with a seven-under-par 63 in a practice round. The competitive course record is 65.

"I think he left out a couple of holes," Casper quipped.

The muscular little South African, winner of all the world's major titles, reeled off seven birdies and parred the others as he readied for his first competitive round since winning the rich Tournament of Champions at Rancho La Costa, Calif.; last month.

"I'm playing very well," said Player, who just finished a three-week vacation at his ranch home near Johannesburg.

Among the top names are Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, PGA champion Julius Boros, leading money-winner Gene Littler, Masters champion George Archer and Deane Beman, winner of the Texas Open.

The course has been changed this year. A flood control project forced the straightening of the Clear Fork of the Trinity River, which laces the course. It has been lengthened to 7,175 yards but still plays to a par 70. Nine holes have been changed, several with the greens moved to new locations.

"It's changed, but it's still tough," Casper said. "If you hit a bad shot you can be in trouble."

bie." In fact, he joked, "you can hit a good shot and be in trouble."

Casper, a two-time U.S. Open champion, has won his tournament twice, but is struggling to regain his 196 form that made him golf's first winner of $200,000 in a year. He's just back from a two-week rest to subdue his allergy problems and whip his game into shape.

Herman Gilliam Inks Pact With Royals

CINCINNATI (AP)—Herman Gilliam of Purdue's Big Ten championship team signed Tuesday with the Cincinnati Royals, who have cast him as their No. 1 college draft choice.

Details of the contract with the National Basketball Association club were not disclosed but it was rumored that Gilliam received a bonus for the signing. He also was drafted by Kentucky of the American Basketball Association.

The 6-foot-4 Gilliam of Winston Salem, N.C., scored 1,118 points for a 5.9 game average in three seasons at Purdue.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — American League President Joe Cronin has turned down a Cleveland Indians' request to move the outfield fences 10 feet closer to home plate.

The Indians, who have won only one game in Municipal Stadium, would like to shorten the distance to help their long-ball hitters reach home — run territory.

Jury Tampering Charges Eyed By Evans Prosecutor

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Assistant County Prosecutor Charles R. Laurie says he is pursuing "vigorously" an investigation to determine how copies of newspaper clippings about a defense attorney got into evidence being considered by the Fred "Ahmed" Evans jury.

The presence of the copies, relating to unsuccessful attempts to disbar lawyer Stanley Tolliver is one of eight alleged irregularities named in a motion for a retrial filed Tuesday by Tolliver and Charles Fleming.

The jury Monday delivered a guilty verdict on seven first-degree murder counts against Evans, now in Death Row at the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus under sentence to die in the electric chair Sept. 22.

Laurie said he is considering presenting to the grand jury his investigation into the clippings "if the facts warrant it."

Defense attorneys have labeled the incident "jury tampering."

The controversy arose Sunday night when the jury foreman, a Strongsville telephone installer, told court officials a photostatic copy of seven newspaper articles had been found among the prosecution's evidence during their deliberations.

Tolliver has said he purchased photostatic copies of newspaper clippings from The Cleveland Plain Dealer, but says they concerned Evans, not himself.

Laurie said the court asked both sides to examine the evidence before it went into the jury room and all "agreed" everything was "in proper form."

Evans, 37, a Black Nationalist leader, was convicted of first-degree murder of three Cleveland policemen and a civilian shot last July 23 during a gun battle in the city's Glenview area.

Young Blasts Hospital Stay In U.S. By Viet 'Top Cop'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, says it is disgraceful that South Vietnam's national police chief, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan, will be treated for a leg wound at the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital.

Loan, called a murderer by Young in a Senate speech, became known around the world when he was photographed as he executed a bound Viet Cong officer who had been taken prisoner during last year's enemy Tet offensive.

The dramatic picture, which won a Pulitzer prize, showed Loan firing his pistol within inches of the prisoner's head.

Young said Loan was brought to the United States with his entourage at U.S. taxpayer expense to undergo treatment.

"This seems to me to be a disgraceful end to a disgraceful, murderous episode," said Young, a longtime foe of American involvement in the Vietnam war.

Government officials passed the buck Tuesday when asked about Loan's arrival, length of stay and payment of his bill. A reporter was referred by the hospital to the State Department, then to the Defense Department, the South Vietnamese Embassy and back to the hospital without getting any answers.

Young made his attack Monday in the Senate, saying: "Americans should know that this murderer, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan, who was seriously wounded in street fighting in Saigon has been brought to the United States on a commercial jet liner at the expense of our taxpayers who are footing the bill for this murderer."

Ersatz Food Said Better

CHICAGO (AP) — It may look like ham, it may taste like ham but it may in fact be soybeans. Nutritionally, it may be better than ham.

The ersatz ham, along with chicken and corn beef made of protein derived primarily from soybeans, was shown today for sampling at the annual meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists.

Pork and bacon substitutes also are made of soybeans, and lamb is being developed.

William J. Downey, a vice president of Fritzsche Brothers, Inc., New York, which displayed the meat substitutes, called them "the food of tomorrow."

Since the products are tailor made, he said in an interview, they can excel the edibles they simulate in terms of nutrition.

But products cannot be sold to the public on the basis of their nutritional value alone, so it is necessary to make the substitutes look and taste like something else, Downey explained.

Robert J. Eisler, another vice president of Fritzsche, said the substitute products would be in food stores in five to 10 years.

The price will go down with mass production so the poor can afford them, he said.

Dr. R. F. Robinson, technical director of Worthington Food, Worthington, Ohio, said hamburger meat is only 60 per cent protein, but the soybean substitute is 90 per cent protein.

He said the protein meat substitutes have less fat than the real thing and retain their texture better during cooking.

Nicholas Drive PTA Holds Final Meeting, Election

The final meeting of the Nicholas Drive PTA was held in the multi-purpose room of the school on Thursday evening.

The business meeting was conducted by Ronald Berlin, chairman. The slate of officers for the 1969-70 year was presented and voted unanimously to be accepted. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Middaugh, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith, co-chairman; Mr. and Mrs. James Palm, treasurer; and Mrs. Dale DeLong, secretary.

Mrs. Carl Heffelfinger, who has been library chairman since the inception of the school library, will not be continuing as chairman next year.

Mrs. Charles Schneider representing Nicholas Drive School and the PTA presented Mrs. Heffelfinger with a gift and thanked her for the time and effort she has contributed to the school library.

The program for the evening was a humorous reading of "Charlie Brown and His All-Stars" with Mrs. Martha Wiggins and Wesley Jones from the Circleville High School Curtain Callers. Adding to the versatility of the stage were the newly erected back-drop curtains which were given to the school as the PTA project for this year.

The chairman of a House education subcommittee plans to hold hearings at three state university campuses on proposals to control student disturbances.

Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-70 Cincinnati, said Tuesday he hoped hearings can be set up for administration officials, students, faculty and taxpayers at Kent State University, Ohio State University and either Miami University or Ohio University.

Murdock and Reps. Larry R. Nord, R-98 Warren, and Richard M. Christiansen, D-17 Mansfield, were appointed Tuesday night to a subcommittee to study six bills aimed at preventing campus disturbances.

George V. Voinovich, R - 53 Cleveland, admitted at the full committee's second hearing on the bills that "a majority" of the universities are opposed to legislation to control campus disturbances.

He said he sent letters to all 12 state universities asking their positions and received responses from only five.

Voinovich said OSU, OS and Miami indicated they could "handle" student disturbances through powers granted to them by the legislature last session and through their student codes.

He said Kent State, the only Ohio university to have a major student disturbance this spring, and Cleveland State, indicated they were "sympathetic" to legislative action.

Deny Pollution Of Lake Erie

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A two-year Army Corps of Engineers' study shows the Lake Erie pollution problem would not be solved if the present policy of dumping dredged material into the lake was changed.

Col. Amos Wright, Buffalo district engineer for the Corps, said Tuesday at a public hearing that taking polluted materials out of Lake Erie and placing them in dikes or landfills would have a limited effect on lake pollution.

Wright said the study failed to show present dumping of such materials into open lake areas was harmful to the water quality.

PTA PROGRAM — Mrs. Martha Wiggins and Wesley Jones of the Circleville High School Curtain Callers presented the program at the final meeting of the Nicholas Drive Parent Teacher Assn. The program was a humorous reading of "Charlie Brown and His All-Stars."
